Octorara study for scenic system begins

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

WHITE ROCK — The Octorara Creek and its tributaries, which drain some of the most prime farmland in Lancaster and Chester counties, is being studied by the state Department of Environmental Resources to determine eligibility in the commonwealth's system of Wild and Scenic Rivers.

The study, which will continue for the next six months, includes the Octorara north from the Maryland border, its East and West Branches, Stewarts Run and other smaller tributaries and headwaters.

"The study is just now getting started," George Fogg, Chief of the DER's Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, said.

"In these early stages, we'll be working with the planning commissions from both Lancaster and Chester counties to gather base maps and other general background information about the stream."

Property owners along the stream and its tributaries will first be directly affected when DER personnel begin an on-the-spot field study of the waters and adjoining land. This field phase will begin as soon as the preliminary fact-finding is completed.

Actual studying of the stream is expected to continue for the next six months. After that, another six months will be needed for the holding of various advisory committee and public meetings as part of the DER's deliberations on whether the stream will be included in the Wild and Scenic River system and what designation the stream will receive.

One farm group that will be closely watching the study, as it has monitored previous efforts concerning other streams in the state, is the Pennsylvania Grange.

The Grange is leading an effort to have legislation changed to eliminate the condemnation eminent domain provisions of the bill as it now stands.

The Wild and Scenic Rivers Program as authorized by the Legislature in 1972 contains these condemnation provisions which affect so-called scenic easements. These easements can encompass the vegetative

ITC votes relief for mushrooms

BY CURT HARLER

KENNETT SQUARE — The International Trade Commission Wednesday voted to recommend quantitative restrictions be imposed on imports of canned and other preserved mushrooms.

The restriction, recommended for a three year period, was approved by a three to two vote.

Last Wednesday the ITC board had voted four to zero that the mushroom industry needed some form of relief.

But local farm groups already are criticizing the specifics of this week's ITC vote, calling it temporary relief, not a remedy.

The ITC recommended President Jimmy Carter restrict imports to 86 million pounds during the first year of the proposed three year period.

In the second year imports could climb to 94 million pounds; the third year, 103 million pounds, which is more than what they are today.

A coalition of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Union, State Grange, Food Processors and American Mushroom Institute had asked foreign imports be limited to about 50 million pounds per year.

The ITC recommended the President allocate its mushroom quota on a per country basis as he deems appropriate. This would allow separate quotas for different nations.

The U.S. mushroom industry has requested some relief repeatedly in the past decade, citing damage from imports from the Far East.

Several times ITC has indicated the mushroom industry deserved relief but presidents of both parties have chosen to enact neither an import tonage limit nor a tariff on imports.

Pennsylvania Farmers Union was among the first of the state's farmer groups to lobby actively in Washington, D.C. for relief for the mushroom industry.

Leonard Zemaitis, state director for PFU, said

Heidi Miller crowned County Poultry Queen

BY PAT KAUFFMAN

LANCASTER — "There are many surprises in life, and this is one of them." With these words, Heidi Miller, 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Miller, R1 Columbia, accepted the crown as 1980 Lancaster County Poultry Queen at a pageant held at the Farm and Home Center here Friday.

Debbie Herr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Herr, Quarryville, was named as the 1980 Alternate Poultry Queen.

Heidi's family has a layer operation with 120,000 birds. A recent graduate of Manheim Township High School, Heidi has an office job at the Farm Credit Office in Lancaster.

Her mother, Alicia, said that Heidi had worked for a poultry service on chicken catching crews while in school, and that she is as much or more involved in the operation than the rest of the family.

"She just sort of fell naturally into it," her mother said. "Heidi's a girl deeply interested in agribusiness."

The Millers operate a 170 acre farm but have had the poultry operation for only a year and a half.

Heidi's presentation to the judges gave statistics showing the growth of the poultry industry over the last 50 years. She tied her ideas up in a catchy line, "That's something to crow about — growing to meet the needs of a hungry world."

Her judges' question dealt with teenager/adult conflicts. She was asked what she would do if she were with a group of teenagers and older people blasted the young people. Heidi calmly replied that she realized older people criticized the young, but she hoped the LITITZ — Montour, Northumberland, Snyder and Union DHIA listings make their debut in Lancaster Farming this week on page D-10.

The four county listing will appear monthly under one heading, Upper Susquehanna DHIA.

The counties in the Upper Susquehanna area, unlike other counties, have area extension agents who work all four counties. Each agent covers a particular field, for instance, dairy or crops. Thus the grouping of the DHIA records.

We're pleased to add the fine Upper Susquehanna dairymen to our pages boosting our position as the state's top farm paper.

23rd Lebanon Area Fair packs fun, competition into 7 days

Irene Brown, Newmanstown, was the champion showman and fitter in the FFA sheep division.

LEBANON — Close to 2500 spectators and exhibitors were on hand Sunday for the opening of the Lebanon Area Fair.

According to John Balmer, director, over 1600 people feasted on the ham barbecue that kicked off the week-long event.

Visitors toured through the manicured grounds, viewing the latest in farming equipment. Over 60 commercial exhibitors were on hand to provide the interested visitors with the latest information on products, ranging from wood stoves to the latest in liquid embroidery.

In the Sunday afternoon competition, local breeders of rabbits and cavies competed for championship honors. Todd Propst's Flemish Giant Sandy buck was selected as the Best Fancy rabbit. Edwin Ditzler's Champagne was judged the Best Commercial rabbit.

In Monday's poultry competition, the grand champion Large Fowl was a Buff Brahma hen exhibited by Behney and Miller, R1 Myerstown. They also showed the reserve champion, a Plymouth Rock Partridge hen.

The grand champion Bantam was exhibited by Joseph Scharner, R3 Myerstown. The only cock to win a championship title in this year's competition, Scharner's entry was a White Cochin rooster. A Silver Sebrights hen, shown by Charles Peters of Jonestown, took the reserve honors.

The grand champion goat was exhibited by Tammy

The first champion tobacco spitter at the Lebanon Area Fair is Henry Smith, Lebanon. The Silver Cup chewer said he's been chewing since he was 18 years old. His spit in accuracy and distance beat the other contestants Butch Ebersole and Henry Emrich.

Smoothing the way in farm financing.

With the financial row a bit rougher to hoe lately, it helps to have a friend who's friendly with the bank. Someone who knows your work. A financial advisor who can deliver that extra confidence you deserve. All Pennfield Feed customers have access to this kind of financial help. And you'll be pleasantly surprised to know that our financial advisors know cows. They know feeds. Something the numbers people at the bank appreciate ... along with the way the Pennfield Computerized Total Ration Service can help you reduce waste. And here's how this money-saving service works: 1. We collect samples of your forage. 2. Then we evaluate the quality of your forage. We determine the total digestible nutrients. The fiber content. The protein content. The amount of carbohydrates. 3. The computer quickly spots any nutrients lacking in the forage. For your milking cows. And for your dry cows. It immediately points out the overfeeding of nutrients. Underfeeding, too. Both, of course, may be different at different times of the year. And the printout will tell you what you need. And when. 4. Your Penn Pro Professional advises you on the quantity and type of nutrients that should be added, to balance your total feeding program to your cows' nutritional requirements.

(Top) Steve Leiser, Pennfield Representative, examines financial records with Bill Shirey, Meadow Brook Farms, York, Pa (Bottom) Paul Whipple, Pennfield Customer Finance Manager, and C David Landis, Lititz, Pa after successful meeting at the bank

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

AUG 11-17, 1980

Warming, and bugs are swarming

Watch for meteorites when nights are clear this week Blondin crossed Niagara Falls on tightrope Aug 17 1859 Average length of days for the week, 13 hours 54 minutes Cat nights begin now

Railroads first carry mail Aug 14 1838 Hay fever season is here If you have many irons in the fire some will cool

Ask the Old Farmer Why are some fire trucks known as hook and ladder trucks? D P New Orleans

Such trucks used to carry a huge hook on a pole to haul wooden buildings apart — the better to contain the fire

Home Hints When cooking noodles or spaghetti add a bouillon cube to the boiling water Your pasta will have added flavor

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECASTS

New England· Thunderstorms throughout the week with possible clearing during weekend

Greater New York-New Jersey. Frequent showers all week with thundershowers seasonal temperatures, by weekend

Middle Atlantic Coastal Thundershowers inland and north throughout the week, heavier by weekend, seasonal Piedmont & Southeast Coastal Showers, hot and muggy all week, weekend brings heavy thundershowers cooler temperatures

Report supplied by USDA

Closing prices on slaughter steers were 25-50 cents lower while heifers closed steady Cows were steady to 50 cents higher and bulls firm to 1.00 higher. A moderate volume two-way feeder steers sold 50-1.00 lower.

Four day receipts this week 14,000; last week 12,000; year ago 10,300.

The fed cattle trade followed a relatively stable course with only mild day-to-day price variations. Best steer demand still centered on Choice and Prime 3 1150-1300 lbs. and same grade 950-1050 lb. heifers. Demand was good by most buying interests including shippers to points outside the immediate Omaha area. Much of the steer and heifer supply was Good to Average-Choice on Monday, but on later days there was a noticeable improvement in the overall finish with a fairly liberal percentage Choice. The consist also included a moderate volume Good and Choice Holstein steers. Feeder buyers were only moderately aggressive on fleshy two-way steers for a short turn in the feedlot. Slaughter steers made up approximately 45 pct. of the week's total and heifers 34 pct. Cows comprised 10 pct. and feeders 8 pct.

Lancaster Farming says...

Rights and wrongs of right to farm

Much attention is being given a national move to obtain for farmers a "Right to Farm" law.

A plea for legislation recently was sounded by Robert B. Delano, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Among the rights Delano said need re-emphasis are the right to own property for farm use, the right to develop markets and have free access to them, the right to use technology and the available tools of production.

Closer to home, Pennsylvania's legislature is considering an anti-nuisance ordinance bill which has strong Grange and Farmer's Union backing.

It would prohibit local governments from making laws to interfere with farm or farm processing operations in their normal run of business.

The idea behind these and similar bills moving in other states is to assure a free agriculture for the country and to allow farmers to work at their most productive levels.

There is, of course, nothing wrong with either of these laudable goals. But two things are puzzling.

First, and perhaps the more perplexing of the pair, is why any such legislation should be needed in our society

It may seem quaint to pose such a question in face of current realities. But we see food, and its production, as basic to the survival of any group or culture.

Laws traditionally are made to insure the rights of the unwitting, such as children, or to protect good persons from bad.

Farmers certainly don't fall into the former category If anything, it is those who hinder farmers who act unwittingly by throwing stumbling blocks at agriculture, cutting off their nose to spite their face.

Laws of the "thou shall not" variety trace all of the way back to the Ten Commandments They condemn a specific wrong.

With "right to farm" bills, the laws are being written the other way around, offering blanket protection against whatever may be determined as a wrong

The second bothersome fact will be found on the other side of the coin. It calls to mind the old saying "For every right there is a responsibility "

Just what responsibilities are going to be thrust upon farmers as the result of any of these right to farm bills?

Who will determine standard farming practice? Of course, manure odor and lime dust are typical farm byproducts, but how far will this legislation take a farmer?

Is noise from mechanized farming standard in a predominantly Amish township?

Only 10 or 12 years ago no-till farming, with its intensive use of chemicals, was anything but standard or typical

Upon whom will the burden of proof fall? Will private industry be forced to justify new technology with expensive research?

Will early adopters of new ideas be forced to defend their practices in court so the legal system will have precedent for future cases? Will the government demand further concessions in its interference with our farm operations as payment for the protection provided?

Make no mistake about it — farmers do need the right to farm as freely and profitably as possible We need the right to farm

It's simply a shame we must have legislation to guarantee that right

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

"AFRAID TO BE FREE"

Lesson for August 10, 1980

Background Scripture: Haggai, Zechariah 1:1-6; 7;8.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 132:1-5.

A habitual criminal was being interviewed on television. Looking at his career in crime, it appeared to the interviewer that the convict was constantly trying to get back into prison. All of his behavior—including the leaving of obvious clues—seemed guaranteed to put him behind bars no matter how much he protested his desire for freedom. "But why would you continue to do that which was guaranteed to put you back in jail?" the interviewer wanted to know. "Because," said the convict in a moment of rare insight, "it was safe there. Inside, I know the ropes. Outside, I have never learned."

The Time Not Yet Come

Many criminals are thus motivated. Unconsciously they prefer the security of their captivity to the frightening responsibilities of freedom But this syndrome encompasses not just convicts, but many other types of people as well. Some people unconsciously prefer the special privileges of illness to the responsibilities of being well. Others who consciously bemoan their lack of advancement in their jobs, unconsciously do all they can to prevent themselves from having to face the responsibilities of a better position. They may tell themselves that "the time isn't right," "at later they will be ready, but for many the time never comes.

This was the situation which the prophet Haggai found in Jerusalem in the fifth century B.C. When Nebuchadnezzer had besieged the city, he had levelled it to the ground and carried off its most important people into captivity. Left behind were just a handful of lower class people to haunt the ruins of the once-holy city. Most of the people of Judah were carried into Babylonian captivity. But when Cyrus, the Persian, conquered the Babylonians in 538 B C, he published a decree allowing the Jews to return to their homeland and rebuild their temple. Some did, but many, having grown accustomed to their life in Babylon, despite years of yearning to return, remained there.

Busy With Yourselves

When the exiles returned to Jerusalem, they found a reluctance on the part of the local people to rebuild the city and its temple. So, "the word of the Lord came by Haggai the prophet, 'Is it a time for you yourselves to dwell in your paneled houses, while this house lies in ruins?" (Haggai 1:4). The people continued to procrastinate, saying it wasn't yet time to rebuild, but through Haggai God was calling them to leave the security of their self-imprisoning attitudes and take upon themselves the responsibilities of free men, putting their trust, not their sheltered, confining lives, but in God.

When we are afraid, it is because we have failed to put our trust in God. Until we do, we will continue to be afraid of freedom.

TO FLUSH EWE FLOCK

Sheep breeders are facing the breeding season and need to practice very good management. One of these things to do is to get the ewe flock in a gaining condition when bred. This is called flushing the ewes with extra grain or with lush, grass-type pastures Many shepherds have increased the number of twin lambs by having their ewes in excellent condition during the breeding season. If they have not been treated for stomach worms this summer, that treatment should be the beginning of the effort. Ewes that are in good health condition when bred will produce more twin lambs This will enable sheep producers to get more than a 100 percent lamb crop. The goal should be 2 lambs for every ewe.

TO ATTEND AG PROGRESS DAYS

One of the largest agricultural events in the state each year is Ag Progress Days held at the Penn State Research Farm near Rock Springs in Centre County. This three-day event is scheduled for August 19, 20 and 21, and should attract thousands of people. We are informed of the participation of 225 commercial exhibitors who will be displaying about $20 million dollars worth of products and equipment. Energy saving displays will feature woodburning equipment, solar heating and drying, and both methane and gasohol digesters. Some of the world's most sophisticated farm equipment will be displayed and demonstrated. For a day of change and eye-opening experiences, we urge all readers to plan on attended Ag Progress Days this year.

TO OBSERVE WITHDRAWAL TIMES

Various drugs and chemicals are a part of livestock and dairy production according to modern practices. Any of these have a particular contribution to make and should be successful in controlling infections. However, the presence of any of the residues of these materials in meat or milk is not acceptable, over certain tolerances, and can be the reason for losing a market. Producers should become acquainted with the materials used and learn the exact withdrawal time. If the material is administered by a local veterinarian, he should know the withdrawal period. In dairy animals this means the disposal of the milk for a certain number of days. In meat animals it means do not sell for slaughter, or do not slaughter, for a certain number of withdrawal days. This is important in order to produce a good product and to protect the consumer. Records should be kept of the drugs and chemicals used on all animals and crops.

TO CONSIDER MARKET DEMANDS

Cattle and hog feeders are feeling a bit better in recent weeks because of the advance in market prices. Under these conditions it is tempting to continue feeding animals longer hoping the market will continue to rise. This might happen in some cases; however, too many times it does not work out to the benefit of the producer. When cattle or hogs are fed longer because of speculating on a higher market, they often become too fat and too heavy to command a good price. As a result they are docked because of their excess finish. Also, it costs more to put on that extra finish by increased feed requirements. Many times the cost of feeder animals follows the finished market; therefore, if a feeder waits on a higher market to sell, he may also have to pay a higher price for replacement stock. Sell when animals reach the desired market grade that pays the highest price is suggested.

Furadan at seeding time.

For a better stand that can pay back four dollars for every dollar you spend.

That's the kind of stand that gives you a lot more alfalfa.

Based on field tests in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia last season, Furadan® insecticide at seeding saves an average of more than ⅓ ton of alfalfa an acre per cutting. That can mean almost $75 an acre more for you per season—figuring alfalfa at $85 a ton.

With Furadan, you protect your new crop from leafhoppers and blotch leafminers. Right from the start.

So if you're out to turn alfalfa into a real money-maker, put down Furadan insecticide at seeding. And see the difference in your yields.

That's Furadan—either 10G or 4 Flowable. From FMC Corporation, Agricultural Chemical Group, 2000 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA 19103.

A Section 24 C special local needs registration has been granted for Furadan in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia.

Leadership abilities needed

UNIVERSITY PARK — Local leadership has become increasingly important. State laws have returned many functions of government to counties, boroughs, and townships.

Many local commissions, authorities, and boards have been created to perform many functions; all of these require leadership.

As the demand for local leadership increases, the field of qualified individuals seems to decrease.

Whether your area of leadership is paid or volunteer, and you feel that you could use some additional training in developing your leadership skills, you will be interested in Penn State's course on leadership development.

You get a complete course by sending $5.50 plus $1.00 handling to Leadership, Box 5000, University Park, PA 16802. Make check payable to Penn State.

Three growers named to state apple board

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell has announced the appointment of three Pennsylvania apple growers to the Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Program Advisory Board.

The new appointees are Larry Wright of Schellsburg, Bedford County, elected Secretary; Robert Andrews of St. Thomas, Franklin County; and John R. Pitzer of Aspers, Adams County.

All will serve three-year terms, concluding June 30, 1983.

The nine-member Advisory Board administers the Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Program, which was recently approved for a five-year period beginning July 1, 1980 in a vote by Pennsylvania apple growers.

The Apple Marketing Board uses mass media, point of purchase materials, leaflets, recipe books and teaching kits to promote apple use. A full-time marketing representative works with produce buyers, wholesale produce firms and other organizations on behalf of the apple industry.

The program provides for an assessment to producers with 500 or more apple trees of five cents per bushel for fresh market and two cents per hundredweight on apples for processing. Income from the assessments supports the Apple Marketing Board's programs.

Hallowell said, "I am pleased that Larry Wright, Robert Andrews and John Pitzer have accepted these appointments to the Apple Marketing Board. It is important to the industry that men such as these continue to take an active role in working for the future of Pennsylvania's $46.5 million a year apple industry."

"Pennsylvania ranks fifth in the nation in the production of apples," he said, "but our apple producers have not been content with this status. They realize that continued promotion and advertising is essential to maintaining Pennsylvania's share of the national apple market."

Three on Potato Board

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell has announced the appointment of three potato growers to the Pennsylvania Potato Research Board.

The new appointees are Earl Miller, R1, SugarLoaf, Luzerne County, chairman; William Ringler, R1, Berlin, Somerset County; and George W. Tallman, R1, Tower City, Schuylkill County.

All will serve three-year terms, concluding on June 30, 1983.

The nine-member board administers the Potato Research Program, which was created by a referendum involving potato growers with 25 or more acres, in 1976. The program provides for an assessment

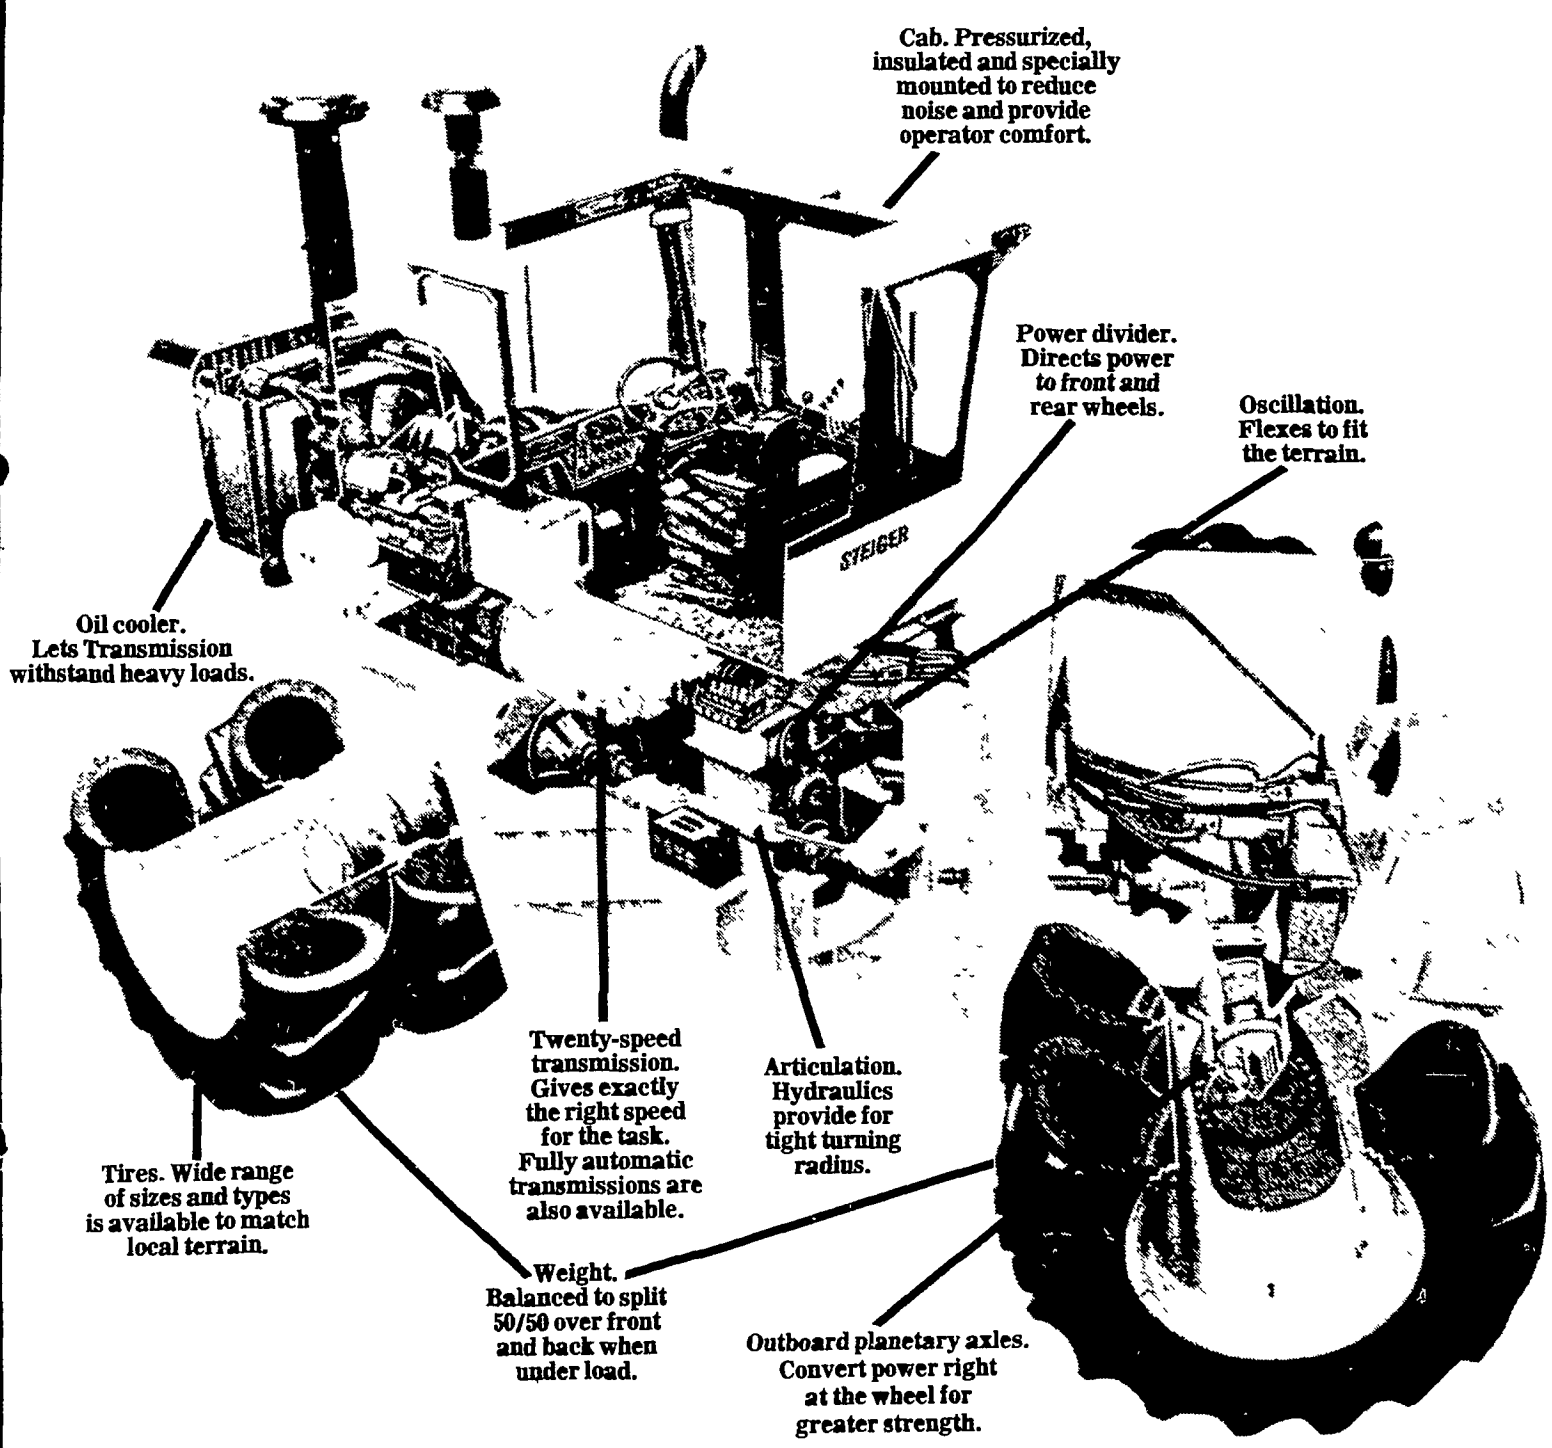
WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN A FOUR-WHEEL DRIVE

COMPARE STEIGER:



Cab. Pressurized, insulated and specially mounted to reduce noise and provide operator comfort.
Power divider. Directs power to front and rear wheels.
Oscillation. Flexes to fit the terrain.
Oil cooler. Lets Transmission withstand heavy loads.
Twenty-speed transmission. Gives exactly the right speed for the task. Fully automatic transmissions are also available.
Articulation. Hydraulics provide for tight turning radius.
Tires. Wide range of sizes and types is available to match local terrain.
Weight. Balanced to split 50/50 over front and back when under load.

THE KEYS TO COMPARING 4WD TRACTORS.

Drawbar horsepower The most basic criterion is how much can it pull as measured in horsepower at the drawbar This is more important than engine horsepower because the drawbar is the working end of the tractor

Cost per drawbar horsepower This is the real way to measure what you re getting for the money Just divide the cost by the tested drawbar horsepower and you ve got a figure you can use to compare all makes and types of tractors

Fuel consumption How much work can the machine squeeze out of a gallon of diesel fuel? While many people gauge fuel efficiency by gallons per hour this is not the the best measurement The best way amount of work per gallon or more scientifically horsepower hours/gallon

Drive train ratio Divide the drawbar horsepower by engine horsepower The result expressed as a percentage indicates how much power is actually available to do work at the drawbar

Weight to horsepower Generally speaking the higher the weight to horsepower ratio the more power the tractor will ultimately deliver You might ask why doesn t everyone build them real heavy? The answer the cost of steel But like in everything else you can find quality if you look for it

Noise All manufacturers have a decibel rating on their cabs One Steiger four wheel-drive has been proven to be as quiet as 75 5 decibels under full power and load That s about as quiet as a pick up truck A quiet tractor reduces operator fatigue improves productivity oldsters would realize the young people were not as bad as they sometimes think.

The pert lass added that she thought there was something the young people could learn from the older generation.

A full house enjoyed the evening which led off, naturally, with a chicken dinner. Grover Gouker, Jr. did honors as the master of ceremonies and reminded all the girls participating that they were by nature of their being there all winners, and that they should count their experiences in life rather than their titles.

Other contestants during the judging were: Kathleen Boll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Boll, Elizabethtown; Lori Esbenshade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Esbenshade, Lancaster; Kristina Kauffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kauffman, Bainbridge; Cathy Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Martin, Gordonville and Debra Vanderwende, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Vanderwende, Lititz

County roundup — the kids are the show

BY PAT KAUFFMAN

QUARRYVILLE — When children and animals share the spotlight, they're a photographer's delight.

Strolling along the barn aisles at the recent Lancaster 4-H dairy roundup, the visitor encountered kids doing their thing In some instances that was polishing the last few specks of dust from a calf whose back the junior exhibitor couldn't see over

In others that meant nestling into the straw next to the black and white friend, whispering secrets into its ear.

And in still others that meant catching up on a few winks. But in any case, you could tell from the snickers and the grins, the games of tag and the cases of jitters, the kids were definitely enjoying themselves

The county roundup and the district Holstein show were scheduled back to back and afforded youngsters a chance to rough it with their calves, camping out on lawn chairs and with sleeping bags When an evening's sleep was interrrupted, it was supplemented with a snooze between classes

The all time winners for serving every use under the sun were the show boxes Tots too young to participate used them as a prop to watch the hustle and bustle and admire the prime examples of dairy stock

One resourceful young dairyman used his head to prop the top of his show box open while he searched for a missing halter

Those lacking show boxes toted cardboard boxes laden with groceries, fly sprays, extra clothing and halters

Little blue silos containing lemonade or iced tea were found in stacks of gear along with brushes and halters. And one young woman nursed tired feet in her calf's water bucket

Some strange items were also included in the gear A telephone booth, for instance, a superman suit, and Laura Ingalls Wilder's bonnet These items were extracted from their boxes and placed on semi-cooperative calves at the end of the judging for a calf dressing contest Depending on your feelings for the actors involved in the TV shows depicted, the four legged actors fit the roles to a T-Bone

But the best picture of all has got to be the one of beaming youngsters and quality calves receiving multicolored ribbons and posing for mom and dad's instamatic For after all, isn't that what it's all about — that feeling of accomplishment and pride in a job well done?

Wow, what a cow

Beep, beep, Herbie

The rigors of showing can be tiring

Hey, it's something more than a hat rack!

Schaeffer shows grand champ steer at Lebanon

LEBANON — Terrie Schaeffer, one of the most attractive cattlemen at the Lebanon Area Fair's beef show, walked her crossbred steer into the winner's circle on Wednesday afternoon.

The petite blonde captured the grand championship trophies in both the 4-H and FFA show and the Open Steer show. Her entry was a Red Angus x Maine Anjou crossbred purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marshall, Zion.

A 4-H member since she was 8 years old, Schaeffer has been showing in the livestock club for the past three years. This is her first grand championship.

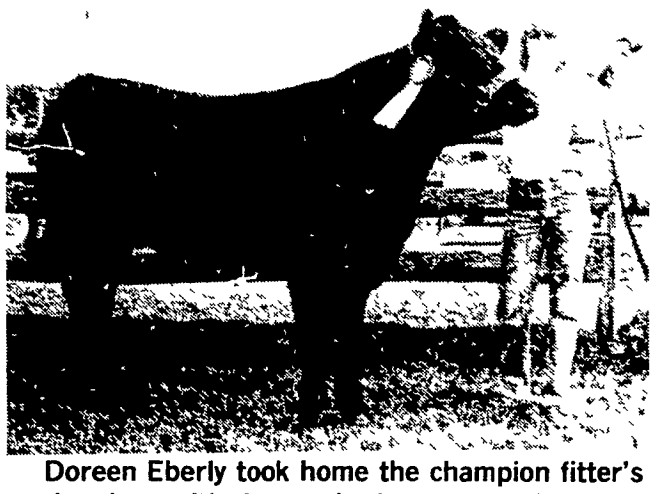
Taking the reserve champion honors in both shows was a Maine Anjou x Hereford crossbred steer shown by Rodney Bomgardner, R3 Annville. This is the second year of competition for the 10 year old and his second reserve championship. At last year's show. Bomgardner exhibited the reserve champion in the 4-H contest.

A brother-sister team tied up the championship honors for both Showmanship and Fitting.

Brett Eberly, Newmanstown, was this year's champion showman and reserve champion fitter. And Doreen Eberly took home the champion fitter and reserve showman trophies.

They pointed out that winning is a family tradition. Brother Bryan exhibited the grand champion steer at last year's fair and was also the grand champion showman and fitter.

The Reserve champion steer in both shows was exhibited by Rodney Bomgardner, R3 Annville. This was Rodney's second year in 4-H.



Doreen Eberly took home the champion fitter's trohy along with the trophy for reserve champion showman.

Show results are as follows:

At dusk the covered bridge near the Slumbering Groundhog Lodge provides a peaceful pastoral setting.

This is the start of the fly fishing area along the West Branch of the Octorara Creek, which will be included in the DER's study to determine if stream is eligible for the state's Wild and Scenic River system.

cover along a stream up to the top of the nearest slope, but not to exceed one-eighth of a mile

Presently, the state bill provides for four designations under the program, including Wild, Scenic, Recreational and Modified Recreational.

The Grange has called for a fifth designation to be added to the list It would be a Pastoral classification, designed to permit agriculture to co-exist in harmony with other uses for streams

The Octorara was recommended for the study by the Pennsylvania Wild and Scenic Rivers Task Force comprised of interest groups from across the state

The Park and Open Space Advisory Committee of the Lancaster County Planning Commission has continued to endorse the designation of the Octorara as a Scenic River The Chester County Planning Commission is similarly on record as backing the designation.

An important phase of the study as it proceeds will be the naming of an Advisory Committee of local officials and property owners This committee provides input into the study and monitors DER efforts prior to the scheduling of public hearings

The State Grange has urged, as streams are studied across the state, that agriculture be adequately represented on advisory committees since farmers are the largest property owners involved.

Thus far, two rivers have been included in the system They are the Schuylkill, from Philadelphia north to Port Clinton, designated a recreational river, and Stony Creek in Dauphin County designated a wild river

Actually, the Octorara could qualify for many designations under the program It is scenic along most of its many miles and semi-wild in certain areas It is one of the most popular fishing streams in the area for both fly and meadow fishing And, of course, some of the most picturesque and productive farmland can be found along its banks

Other streams in the state are presently in various stages of study, including Slippery Rock and Wolf Creeks in Mercer, Lawrence and Butler counties, Pine Creek in Lycoming County and French Creek in Chester County.

In an entirely separate but informationally related matter, the National Wildlife Federation and the American Rivers Conservation Council have filed federal suit to block construction of a nuclear power plant along the Skagit River, 64 miles north of Seattle, Wash. That river was added to the National Wild and Scenic Rivers system in November, 1978.

The suit will test the meaning of the "compatibility" requirement under the 1968 Wild and Scenic Rivers Act.

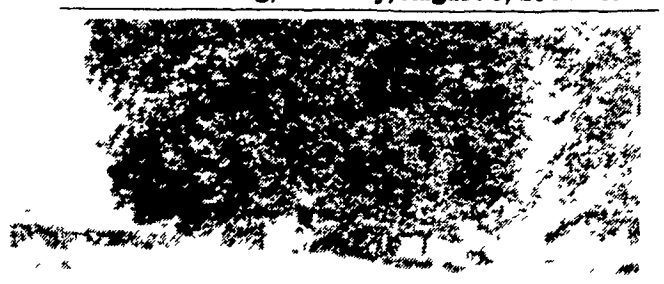
In the suit, the two environmental groups are asking that the court find that U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland acted improperly when he determined in April of 1978 that a nuclear power plant proposed by the Puget Sound Power and Light Company would not violate the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act.

The Skagit has been found to be one of the few remaining systems in North America which support significant numbers of the five salmon species native to North America, plus three seagoing varieties of trout.

Also, the largest winter concentration of Bald Eagles in the contiguous U.S., more than 200 birds, gather along the Skagit every winter to feed on surplus salmon. Black bear, watertowl and black-tailed deer are common in the river basin. It is a favorite of canoeists, hikers and other outdoor enthusiasts.

This is the first major court challenge of the so-called compatible uses along a Wild or Scenic River.

There's no doubt that the West Branch of Octorara has its wild and unspoiled scenery. This is along rocky area near Black Rock.



Dual Uses: Jim Funk, of Georgetown, fishes Octorara West Branch just north of Noble Road bridge, while dairy cows return to shade in background after drinking from the cooling waters.

New Jersey 4-H clubs meet

FEATHERED FRIENDS 4-H CLUB

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — Nine members, two leaders and two parents of the Feathered Friends 4-H Waterfowl Club went on a field trip to Brittenhorst Acres in Colts Neck, New Jersey.

They saw a poultry and waterfowl breeding operation of more than 600 fowl and small animals.

Martha Woske, a leader of the club, gave a demonstration on how to clip a wing of a bantam waterfowl.

Tammy Woske, club president, received an excellent at the state public presentation contest held last month.

The club was the subject of an article written in the July issue of "Poultry Press". The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Woske on Monday.

FAIR VALLEY COMMUNITY 4-H DAIRY CLUB

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — The Fair Valley Community 4-H Dairy Club held a meeting at the farm of Christie Hoffman, Califon.

The members learned how to clip their animals for the upcoming Achievement and Flemington Fairs.

Two presentations were given during the meeting. Tom Hoffman, Califon, demonstrated how to show animals in competition. Bob Hoffman of Califon told the members how to clip their animals.

MY FRIEND THE RABBIT 4-H CLUB

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — A new 4-H club, My Friend the Rabbit, held its first meeting recently at the home of their leader, Nellie Young, of Tewksbury Township.

A club president, Robin York of Whitehouse Station and a club secretary, Bridget Card, of Whitehouse Station, were elected.

Members learned how to pick up and hold a rabbit. Their leader also explained how to fill out organized records for their 4-H projects. The members plan to exhibit at the 4-H Achievement and Flemington Fair Rabbit Shows.

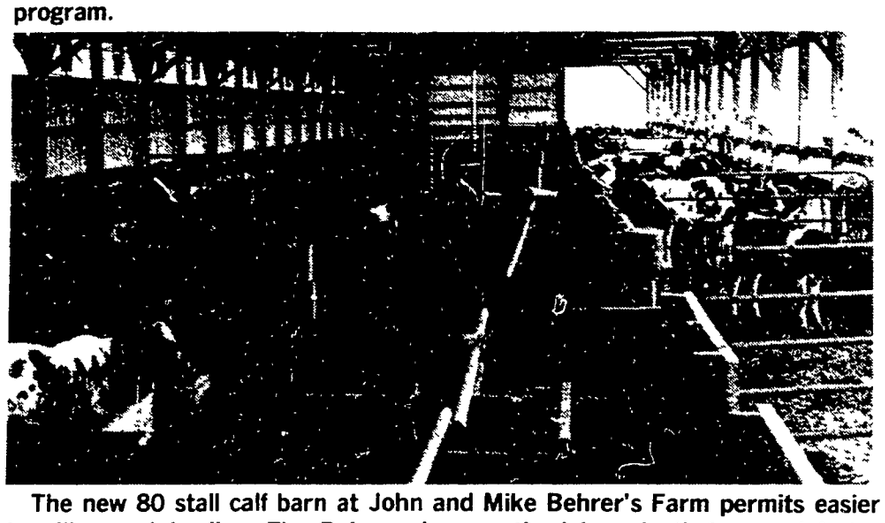
FMBA Farm Tour — scenes fr

The Behrers feed their cows three separate rations according to production. The rations are mixed according to a Penn State forage testing service feeding program.



The new 80 stall calf barn at John and Mike Behrer's Farm permits easier handling and feeding. The Behrers have noticed less death loss and faster growth with the new calf barn.

A new 170 head free stall barn will be used by Bob Oliver to increase his herd size from 120 to 140 head with a total herd output forecast at 2.1 million pounds this year.

John Behrer and his son Mike, left, opened their farm as one of the stops on the FMBA Service Farm Tour Tuesday. Other stops included the Bob Oliver farm in Spruce Creek Valley and the Penn State milk and forage testing labs.

Lancaster-Chester Grangers meet on mushrooms

OAKRYN — Legislators, Congressmen, and mushroom growers met with the Pennsylvania State Grange at Fulton Grange Hall in Lancaster County, to discuss problems facing the Pennsylvania mushroom industry.

The agenda of the meeting held three purposes, including generating Grange policy, information gathering, and providing an update of Grange activities on the mushroom industry's problems.

Bob Frederick, Legislative Director of the National Grange, reported to the growers that his organization, in conjunction with the Farmers Union and the Food Processors Association, as well as the American Mushroom Institute, were working together on the import issue in Washington, D.C.

Imports from the People's Republic of China and Taiwan are depressing the domestic canning and fresh mushroom markets. "The Taiwanese are shipping their quota to us," Frederick noted, "and then shipping their surplus to Hong Kong where it is processed and shipped to the United States."

Rocco Pugliese, Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Food Processors Association, stated the import problem from the People's Republic of China "will worsen over the next three to five years."

"The problem is rooted in survival," he said. "The processor is to the point where he can no longer afford to can only domestic mushrooms."

Current production costs in America are about 65 cents a pound. In the Far East, production costs are about 22 cents per pound Foreign growers can also use the more effective pesticides because "they don't have the equivalent of an Environmental Protection Agency."

Charles Wismer, Master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, noted that foreign mushroom producers got their start mushroom production with U.S. dollars.

Margaret Edwards, a Lancaster County Grange member, verified that fact saying she "served one of them dinner back in the 50's.

"They weren't interested in dairy cows," she said. "But, when they got close to the mushroom houses they started measuring and asking lots of questions.

"I asked the man where he was going to sell his mushrooms when he started growing, and whether or not he would take our market away from us. He said, 'France'. So I asked him why France wasn't paying his way over here, and he changed the subject."

Another problem discussed at the Grange meeting was pesticide approval. Mushroom growers are having increasing difficulty getting state pesticide labels approved by the Environmental Protection Agency.

"The Extension Service told us one of the more effective pesticides against flies, which is one of our big problems, would probably get registered last August," a Chester County grower noted. "It's a year later, and it's still not approved."

The flies produce a worm that attacks the mycelium of the mushroom. Those mushrooms showing fly damage have a black streak running up the center of the stem Some beds don't even come up at all."

Another Chester County grower mentioned problems with labor. "In part, it's a problem of education, he noted. "Many growers don't know they don't come under Act 93. So when the inspectors show up and tell them they want to see their records, they don't know enough to tell them to hit the road."

Act 93, requires people who use migrant labor to register their employees, pay the minimum wage, and permits entry and access to grower records and payroll.

Mack Reese, of Chester County, noted growers use "seasonal," not "migrant" labor

Other problems mentioned at the meeting included diseases, fuel, transportation and pricing.

State Representative Gibson Armstrong, of Lancaster County, and representatives of Congressman Robert Walker's office were also present at the meeting as observers.

Mushrooms

Wednesday's proposal is hardly a remedy. "ITC handed it to Carter to let him off the political hook," he said.

Zemaitis pointed out the ITC quota will allow Carter to take some action while not really stemming the flow of foreign mushrooms.

U.S. production figures show it costs about 60 cents a pound to produce mushrooms. Far Eastern growers produce mushrooms for about 22 cents.

Zemaitis said he will encourage other organizations in the coalition to write Carter a letter asking for a much stricter quantity limit—one closer to the 50 tons originally proposed by the group.

The Grange, which joined PFU early in the fight to obtain quotas, held a meeting of its own in Oakryn this week. For details, see accompanying article Pennsylvania Farmers' Association, until this week, had done little one way or the other on the mushroom situation.

Explained PFA's Richard W Newpher, the state group has let the national Farm Bureau handle the mushroom situation

Traditionally, Farm Bureau has been against any quotas But it supported beef quotas and probably will favor the mushroom quotas, he said

PFA was represented at this week's mushroom meeting in Kennett Square, sponsored by State Representative Joseph R. Pitts

PFA has policy to support "the continuing efforts of the mushroom farmers in Pensylvania and the United States to obtain quantitative limitations of imported mushrooms."

This is basically what the ITC voted for Wednesday.

Should the President again ignore ITC's recommendation, both Farmers' Union and Grange have made it quite clear they will seek legislative relief for the mushroom growers. This route would go through the U.S. Congress rather than the President.

Farm Bureau opposes legislative quotas. Newpher indicated PFA probably would ask whether its board wanted to file an exception to national policy. That would allow PFA to support the other farm groups seeking legislative relief.

Next Thursday, August 14, the ITC report will go to President Carter

Carter will have 60 days, until October 14, to act on the ITC recommendation

Latest speculation from political insiders is that mushroom growers may get a kinder reception in Washington this time than in previous rounds.

One reason is Carter's decision will have to be made before the November presidential election. Pennsylvania is seen by many political observers as a possible swing state, one where the President may not want to encounter resistance even from a group as small as the state's mushroom farmers.

Franklin Guernsey breeders see hoof trimming

BY RUTH ANN BENEDICT
Staff Correspondent

MERCERSBURG — Some 40 people attended the Franklin County Guernsey Twilight Meeting of the Franklin County Guernsey Breeders Club held at the farm of Harold Hoffeditz, Mercersburg, last Friday

The evening event began with a hoof trimming demonstration by Michael S Stultz of Mercersburg Stultz demonstrated hoof trimming with the use of a motor operated table and explained that he felt diet and the type of housing a farmer maintains has a definite effect on the condition of an animals hoofs.

"Ground with a little gravel allows for a natural wearing away of the hoof" said Stultz

Ginger Secrist, field representative of the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association gave a state report.

Secrist announced the Guernsey State Sale and the 55th Annual Renewal Sale will be a combined sale held on October 9 at the Pennsylvania Guernsey Sale Pavilion in Lancaster

She also announced that the Annual 1981 Meeting of the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association will be held on March 20 and 21. This meeting was changed from a one day event to a two day event due to the upcoming 50th anniversary of the Association.

In a special presentation, Secrist gave Rodney and Darlene Stuff of Mercersburg the Pennsylvania Field Area Outstanding Young Guernsey Farmer Award, which was given to Rodney at the National Guernsey Convention recently

The award is presented to those outstanding farmers between the ages of 21 and 35

Philip Wagner, county dairy agent gave a report on the poor corn situation in Franklin County due to the dry weather being experienced throughout the county

Wagner stated that he has been working on feeding programs with those farmers that have been hit the hardest by the heat.

Harold Hoffeditz, host of the event, commented on his 48 milking cow operation and noted the changes in his operation since the Guernsey Club last met at his farm 11 years ago.

A judging contest was held consisting of a two year old class and an aged cow class.

The winner of the adult division was Darlene Stuff of Mercersburg and the winner of the junior division was Nicholas Meyers, R4 Chambersburg. Ginger Secrist acted as the official judge.

Officers of the Franklin County Guernsey Breeders' Club are: Glenn Mummert, Chambersburg, president; Gerald Peckman, Chambersburg, vice-president; and Leigh Knepper, Chambersburg, secretary/treasurer.

Winners of the door prizes were Warren Peckman, Dan Peckman and Doug Mummert, all of Chambersburg

Prizes were donated by B-Equipment, Waynesboro, Surge, Agway and Franklin Feed and Supply, all of Chambersburg

Biggest and best Ag Progress Days planned

UNIVERSITY PARK — Final preparations are underway to accommodate the more than 15,000 visitors a day expected at Penn State's Rock Springs Research Center next week.

"All indications are that this year's annual Agricultural Progress Days will be the biggest and best ever," says Joseph Harrington, Penn State agronomy professor and general chairman of the three-day event.

"It's more than a day in the sun," says Harrington. Educational displays and commercial exhibits from Canada and the eastern United States are growing in numbers and quality, providing a strong regional reputation for the event.

Again this year, visitors will see alternative energy systems and the technology for using them.

Harrington says that systems include wood-burning and forest improvement methods, solar methods for heating buildings and drying crops from gardens to commercial farms, and improved efficiency of farm-size methane and gasohol digesters operating on grain and crop residues.

"A record number of commercial exhibitors will display goods and services for agriculture," points out Harrington. About 225 commercial companies will be exhibiting about $20 million in products. "Some of the world's most sophisticated farm equipment will be display," adds Harrington.

Featured exhibits include energy and resource efficient animal and crop production. Back again will be special exhibits and working demonstrations in the areas of on-farm waste disposal, soil and water conservation, and safety.

The midway area will focus on field equipment, farm supplies, seeds, fertilizers, silos, farm chemicals, and other farm and home supplies.

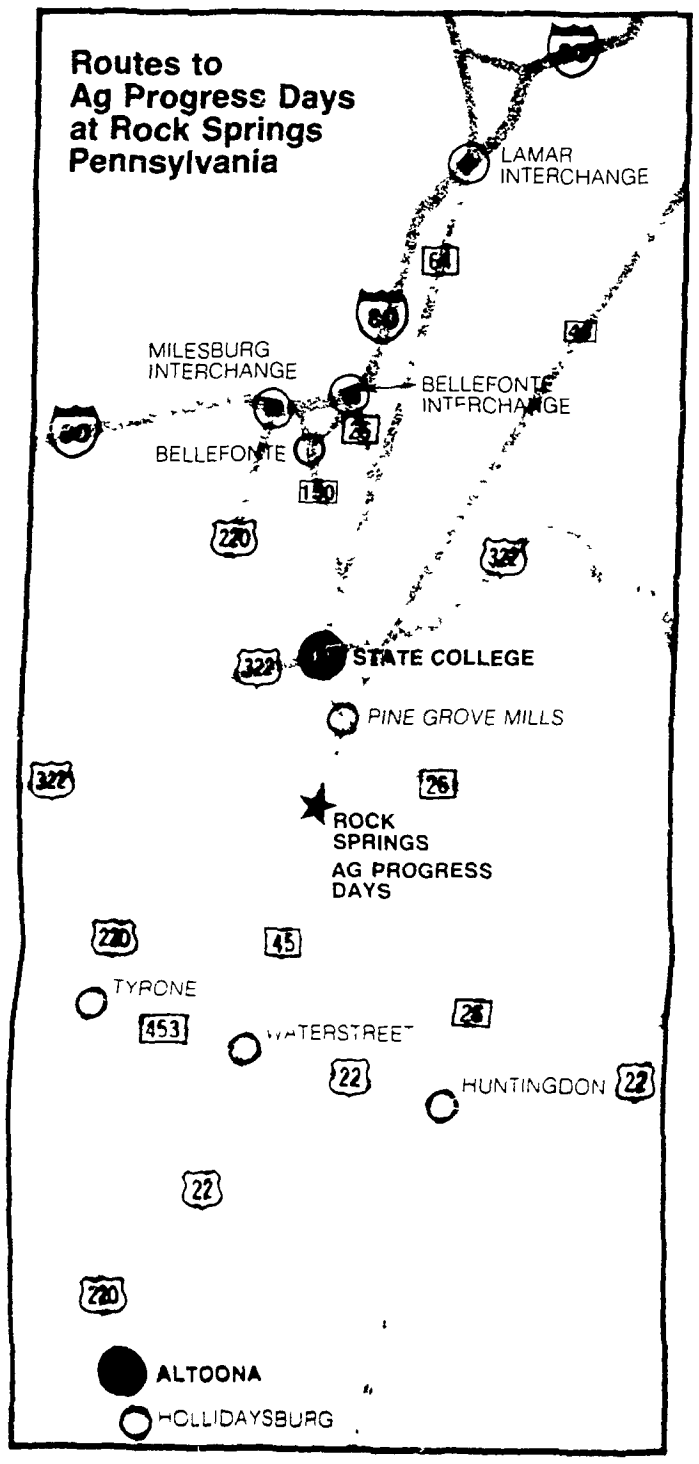
Also on display will be chain saws, lawn and garden equipment, sprayers, horticulture exhibits, family living programs, and youth activities.

The theatre tent, a popular change of pace, will feature musical entertainment each mid-day. Presentations on everything from home horticulture to home safety will be scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. A small tent nearby will offer puppet shows and play activities for young show visitors.

The 1980 Agricultural Progress Days will be held Tuesday through Thursday at the Rock Springs Agricultural Research Center, located nine miles west of State College on Rt. 45 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Ag Progress Days is sponsored by Penn State's College of Agriculture in cooperation with machinery companies and numerous agricultural associations and agencies and is an official part of Penn State's 125th anniversary celebration.

The road to Rock Springs began even before last year's Progress Days were over and has become one of the largest outdoor activities in the East. Harrington emphasizes that the activities are planned to be of interest to both the rural and urban visitor.



September Class 1 milk pegged at $14.51

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine Wednesday announced a Class I milk price of $14.51 per hundredweight for September 1980.

This price is up five cents from the August price and is 86 cents above last September.

Order No. 4 prices are announced for milk testing 3.5 percent butterfat, f.o.b. plants located within 55 miles of the Philadelphia, PA and also within 75 miles from the nearer of Washington, DC or Baltimore, MD.

There is also a 6-cent direct-delivery differential applicable to producer milk received at plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia.

Shine announced a Class II milk price of $11.78 per hundredweight for July 1980 and a butterfat differential of 16.0 cents for the month. The Class II milk price increased 19 cents from the previous month primarily because of a 14 cent increase in the seasonal adjustment factor.

These class prices are based on the July 1980 Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing milk price of $11.73 per hundredweight adjusted to a 3.5 percent butterfat content.

The USDA reported that the wholesale price of Grade A butter at Chicago for July was $1.3931 per pound and the nonfat dry milk price waw $.8929 per pound, f.o.b. plants in the Chicago area.

of one cent per hundredweight on all potatoes sold for human consumption.

Proceeds of the assessment are used to finance research aimed at developing improved potato varieties for Pennsylvania's soil and weather conditions.

Pennsylvania's potato crop in 1979 totaled 6,300,600 hundredweight, with a value of $29.1 million. About two thirds of the potato crop is used in processing, mostly potato chips.

Hallowell said, "I am pleased to appoint these three potato growers to the Potato Research Board. It is important that men like Earl Miller, Bill Ringler and George Tallman continue to take an interest in the long range future of Pennsylvania's potato industry.

"Pennsylvania's potato industry is one segment of our agriculture which truly proves that Pennsylvania agriculture is growing better. And the Potato Research Board members are all dedicated growers, men anxious to see that the state's potato industry continues to prosper," Hallowell said.

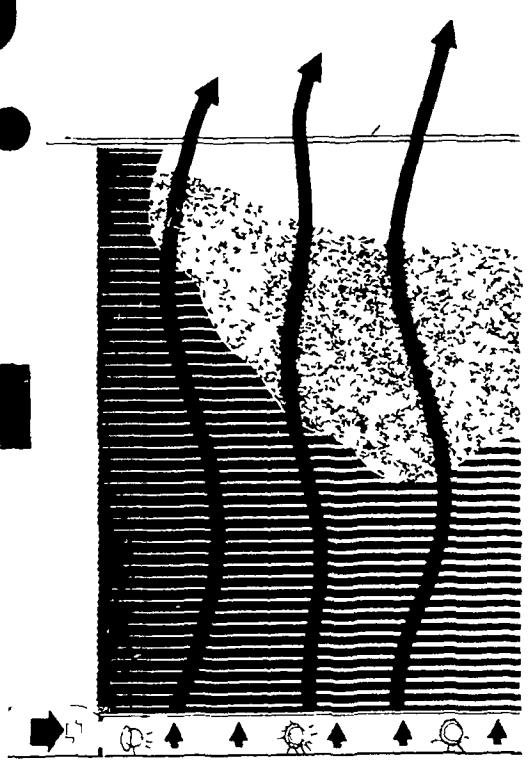
"Harvestall Chillcuring works. I get big energy savings and I don't have to babysit a dryer."



DAN KOLB, Spring City, Pa.

This is my third year with the Harvestall system, and I've found it to be ideal for my setup. I've harvested corn at 30% with no problem. The thing I really like about the Harvestall is that I don't have to babysit a dryer. I can fill it and forget it. Plus there are really no major moving parts to wear out or break down.

"I can cure down 26%-30% corn for around 6¢ to 8¢ a bushel. 24%-25% would run considerably less.

"The way the Harvestall works is simple and effective. As for those who are skeptical, it's like the bumble bee: according to scientists he's not supposed to be able to fly. But he's too dumb to know it, so he flies anyway. So regardless of what anyone says, the Harvestall system works. It works for me and I'm happy with it. I do recommend the Harvestall for its economy and for its considerable savings on energy."

The Harvestall Chillcuring System

It's simple When grain comes out of the field it's a living seed So instead of destroying the seed with high heat, moisture is removed with natural air ventilation The grain keeps all its feed value, there is less shrinkage than with heat drying because only moisture is removed, not dry matter You'll never see white dust in chillcured corn You actually save half of what you're used to losing in heat shrink

There's no oil or gas to buy Natural air carries away heat and moisture as the corn releases it

Harvestall Chillcuring is a "back-to-basics" system that just simply makes good sense Find out more about it

Cumberland Plowing Contest winners named

WILLIAMS GROVE — Bill Crain, R6 Carlisle, and his son Gary won two divisions of the Cumberland County Plowing Contest, Thursday. Bill won the contour plowing contest, while Gary won the large plow level land contest. The contest was held on a farm operated by Robert Berkheimer, located near Williams Grove.

Jay Stoner of 124 East Locust Street, Mechanicsburg, placed second in the contour division, using an Oliver set of plows and a model W-D Allis Chalmers tractor.

John Holtry, R2 Mechanicsburg, placed second in the large plow level land division, using an Allis Chalmers tractor and a set of White plows.

Henry Wenger, 926 Williams Grove Road, Mechanicsburg, placed third in the Large Plow level land division.

Gary and Bill will compete at the state level next Saturday. The Pennsylvania State Plowing Contest will be held Saturday, August 16, at the Milton Hershey School Farm between the Swatara Creek and the State Police Academy at Hershey. The Milton Hershey Farm #6B is located 2½ miles northeast of Hershey. The event will be held in conjunction with an Energy Conservation Fair.

State plowing contests set for August 16

HERSHEY — The Pennsylvania State Plowing Contest will be held on August 16 at Hershey Farms, Hershey, Pennsylvania, at 10 a.m.

Frank Burkhart, State Plowing Contest President, said: "We expect a sizeable number of expert plowmen who have won contests in their home county." Plowmen will compete in three divisions: Large plows, level land - four or more furrows; Small plows, level land - up to three furrows; and Contour (conservation) plowing with any size plow chosen by the contestant.

The plow is a primary tillage tool used to prepare soil for planting of a multitude of agricultural crops. The plow dates back to the days of Thomas Jefferson and has experienced many changes over the past 150 years to accommodate the needs and desires of farmers.

Plow design and construction has been changed for adaptation to sources of farm power ranging from oxen, mules, horses and a multitude of tractor designs and sizes. Plows are marketed ranging in width per plow bottom from 10 inches to 20 inches. The number of plow bottoms per machine ranges from one to thirty or more.

In general, Pennsylvania farmers use from three to six bottoms per plow with each bottom plowing a 14-inch to 18-inch furrow.

Plowing champions named in the Pennsylvania plowing contest will be eligible to plow in the 1981 U.S. Plowing Match.

In July 1980, the U.S. Plowing Match was held at Swanville, Minnesota, Robert N. Miller of Millersburg, Pennsylvania, and Bradley C. Hess of Dallastown, Pennsylvania, represented Pennsylvania in the Large and Small plow classes. Both contestants placed sixth. Large plow winner was Monroe Miller of Iowa. Small plow winner was Werner Gruber of Minnesota.

Bare shows grand champ Holstein

BY SHEILA MILLER

LEBANON — Under a tent filled flap-to-flap with black and white Holsteins, Judge Dennis Wolff picked out Hershey Bare's Aged Cow entry to become this year's Lebanon Area Fairs Grand Champion Holstein.

Valley-Pond Astrocount Ann, a 5 year old cow sired by her namesake Valley-Pond Astrocount and out of Miss U N H Fourty-Niner, was chosen as the best Holstein at Thursday's Open Dairy Show out of over 160 other entries. She was also tagged Senior Champion and was the first place animal in her class of Aged Cows, along with being the Best Uddered Cow.

Judge Wolff followed the Grand Champion with a Reserve Champion out of the 4 year old class.

Lime Tock Astronaut Sue Apple, bred by Hubert S. Miller, Myerstown and owned by his estate, was the Reserve Senior Champion cow and became the Reserve Grand Champion at this year's Holstein Show. Sired by Paclamar Astronaut and out of Lime Rock P. Sue Apple, she began her winning streak by placing first in her class of 4 year olds. She was selected as the second Best Uddered Cow in the show.

The Miller Estate also had the first place Junior and Senior Get of Sire, Dairy Herd, and Dam and Daughter.

In the Colored Breed Show, Judge Earl Keefer, Millersburg looked at close to 90 animals in the Jersey, Guernsey, Ayrshire, and Brown Swiss shows. This was one of the biggest entries ever in Lebanon Area Fair History.

Diane Maulfair, Jonestown, swept the Ayrshire show with two of her cattle tying up the Grand and Reserve Champion slots.

Her 2 year old entry, Maulfair Acres S.S. Milkdud, was tagged the Grand Champion and Best Uddered Cow in the show. This was her second grand championship this week, having been named the best entry in the 4-H and FFA show on Tuesday.

Maulfair's Reserve Grand Champion was her Intermediate Heifer Calf. Maulfair Acres Forest MeriNoel was also named the Junior Champion of the show.

In the Brown Swiss competition, Gary Mase, Lebanon, captured the Grand and Reserve Grand Champion honors.

With his 4 year old entry, Alaric Pavanne Fia, Mase took first place in his class and moved on to Senior Champion on his way to the top. She was the Best Uddered Cow in the show.

His Junior Yearling entry, Amy Marauder Annie, was tagged the Junior Champion and stood in Reserve to the Grand.

The Guernsey Grands were also tied up by one farm. Jacob Smith and Son, Annville had both the Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion entries.

Their 2 year old entry, Piney Lane TH Hornet Medusa, was selected by Judge Keefer as the Grand Champion and Best Uddered Cow in the show. She was also the Senior Champion.

Keefer followed the Grand Champion with the Junior Champion, another Smith entry. The Reserve Grand Champion rosette went to their Senior Yearling, Lebanon Valley Pen Col Waltina.

The Reserve Grand Champion was Marilyn Deaven's Senior Calf entry. Mar-De Allen Jessie was also the Junior Champion in Thursday's show.

See complete class by class results in next week's issue.

The Grand Champion Holstein at Thursday's Open Dairy Show was exhibited by Hershey Bare. Also pictured are Bare's two sons Michael, 17, and Robert, 12; Judge Dennis Wolff; and Lebanon's Dairy Princess Beverly Burkholder.

How will they all do? Why guess now? Only harvest will tell us

How will new Jacques 7780 do against Pioneer 3541 and DeKalb XL72AA?

In all it's early tests, 7780 looked great but we don't want you to buy any until after we harvest our 517 field trials. In those trials, 7780 is growing alongside some of the old standbys like Pioneer 3541 and DeKalb XL72AA.

We think summer is thinking time — not selling time.

We've got five new hybrids that look great; but we don't want you to buy any of them until you have the most information possible.

Take our new 7780 for example. It looked great last year in our field trials as Experimental 9108. It was tested in soils ranging from the light sandhill country of Nebraska to the heavy red clay soils of Ohio.

Farmers who saw how well 7780 did as an experimental last fall wanted to sign up for some right away. But we don't want to sell any until after this fall's large scale tests all across the corn belt. That way you will know just how new 7780 will do against Pioneer's 3541 and DeKalb's XL72AA.

We think that's the only way to buy corn. So you won't be hearing from your Jacques Dealer until he's got field results this fall.

By the way, if there isn't a Jacques Dealer near you, maybe you should learn more about the fastest growing big seed corn company. Use the coupon below to write for a free yieldbook or get information on the many advantages to you of being a Jacques Dealer.

Lancaster Guernsey field day held at Garber farm

Golden cow enthusiasts talk heat and milk

BY PAT KAUFFMAN

WILLOW STREET — An August heat wave dampened the brows but not the spirits of over 150 Guernsey enthusiasts Tuesday as they gathered at the Kenneth Garber farm here for their annual field day.

Judging contests, a farm tour, a barbecued chicken lunch, speakers, dairy queens and a calf drawing were all part of the day's activities.

Guernseys and Garbers have been together since 1913, according to Snavely Garber, herd patriarch. He related memories of making butter in 1927 — 90 pounds per week, which sold for about $1 a pound. Garber recalled the first field day was held in 1929, about the same time the 4-H club began.

Currently the 194 acre farm is farmed by Kenneth, his son. Both Millie Linde, the 1980 National Guernsey Queen and Connie Balmer, the reigning Lancaster County Dairy Princess were in attendance.

Connie, a Guernsey girl at heart, topped the ladies judging competition.

Gerald Harnish, an 8-year employee at the farm explained that they're feeding the herd at a ratio of 1 pound of ration per 2½ pounds of milk. He said the herd receives ear corn, roasted soybeans, and a 40 percent protein mix in addition to the 6 pounds of alfalfa/orchard grass hay in the summer Corn silage is fed at the rate of 25 pounds/day in the warm weather.

When pasture is finished, the herd receives the hay at the rate of 9 pounds per day, and 35 pounds of corn silage

Harnish said dry cows are fed oats/rye hay and about 10 pounds of corn silage. Two weeks before freshening, the cows are started back on grain In addition, each animal receives a 6cc shot of A,D, & E vitamin mixture 2 weeks before freshening

Ginger Secrist from the Guernsey Breeders' Association gave the group food for thought with some statistics on bulls She said that of 44 bulls tested on active AI, they averaged an increase of 785 pounds of milk increase and $92 extra dollars for the farmer, while of 543 bulls in the same study she referred to non-AI, the average was 81 pounds of milk increase and only $10 extra dollars for the farmer's pocket.

Millie Linde challenged the audience to breed Guernseys with bodies capable of supporting the kind of production the modern breeder is demanding from them. Steve Leiser area manager for Pennfield, spoke on Selenium additives. Leiser tried to relate the tiny figures of parts per million to the group. He said for every $10,000 of the farmers milk check, 1 part per million would equal 1 cent. He reminded the group that Northeastern soils are deficient in Selenium, and said that in his experience some rather dramatic reductions in twisted stomachs can be achieved by the addition of the mineral. He admonished the farmers that feed companies are hard pressed to make up in feeds the roughage sacrificed with 12 blade haylage choppers. He said the result of destroying the roughage in the haylage can be a rash of twisted stomachs.

Leiser also told the group Selenium works with Vitamin E in aiding the reproductive and digestive tracts Fewer retained placentas with a resulting ease of 60 day breed backs are a result of supplementing the cows diets with Selenium, he said.

Vitamin E also appears to help the immune response, increasing antibody production, he said

He warned the group to be cautious of increasing and decreasing the Selenium dosage in animals which obtain their ration through their feed He told the group that a dry cow would not get enough of the supplement, and a heavy milker may overdo He said feed companies compensate for this by formulating two separate rations.

Winners in the dairy judging contest were as follows.

Men's division — 1. Melvin Brenneman, 2. Ken Hanks, 3. David Smith, 4. Peter Witmer, 5. Robert Wagner.

Ladies division — 1 Connie Balmer, 2. Nancy Balmer, 3. Barbara Kreider, 4. Marie Brenneman, 5. Elsie Wolf.

Youth division was dominated by Penn Manor FFA students. The top three winners were all from that chapter. Winners were — 1 Brian Ressler, 2. Karen Long, 3. Mike nIssley, 4. John Rohrer, 5. Robert Kirk.

Scott Brenneman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brenneman, won a calf. Janice Garber, daughter of the host won a $25 donation from Farmers First Bank.

Millie Linde, left, the 1980 National Guernsey Queen was on hand Tuesday for the Lancaster Guernsey field day. Connie Balmer, center, the reigning Lancaster County Dairy Princess, topped the ladies' division in the dairy judging competition. Brian Ressler won the youth division judging. Home milking when the picture was taken were Melvin Brenneman, men's division and overall winner, and his son Scott, the recipient of the Guernsey calf.

All together — up she goes

SCHOENECK — More than 100 friends and neighbors of Rubin Weaver gathered at his farm along the Schoeneck Road in Ephrata Township yesterday to raise a large tobacco shed that had been destroyed by a tornado.

The shed, one of the largest in Lancaster County, was leveled in the late June tornado that ripped through Ephrata Township damaging or destroying some 20 farm structures.

The shed measures 150 feet eight inches long by 34 feet wide.

About one-fourth of the timbers were lost in the storm and had to be replaced with new white poplar timbers cut at E-Z Mfg. Co., New Holland.

Largest of the 8X8 timbers forming the lateral roof members measure 34 feet long.

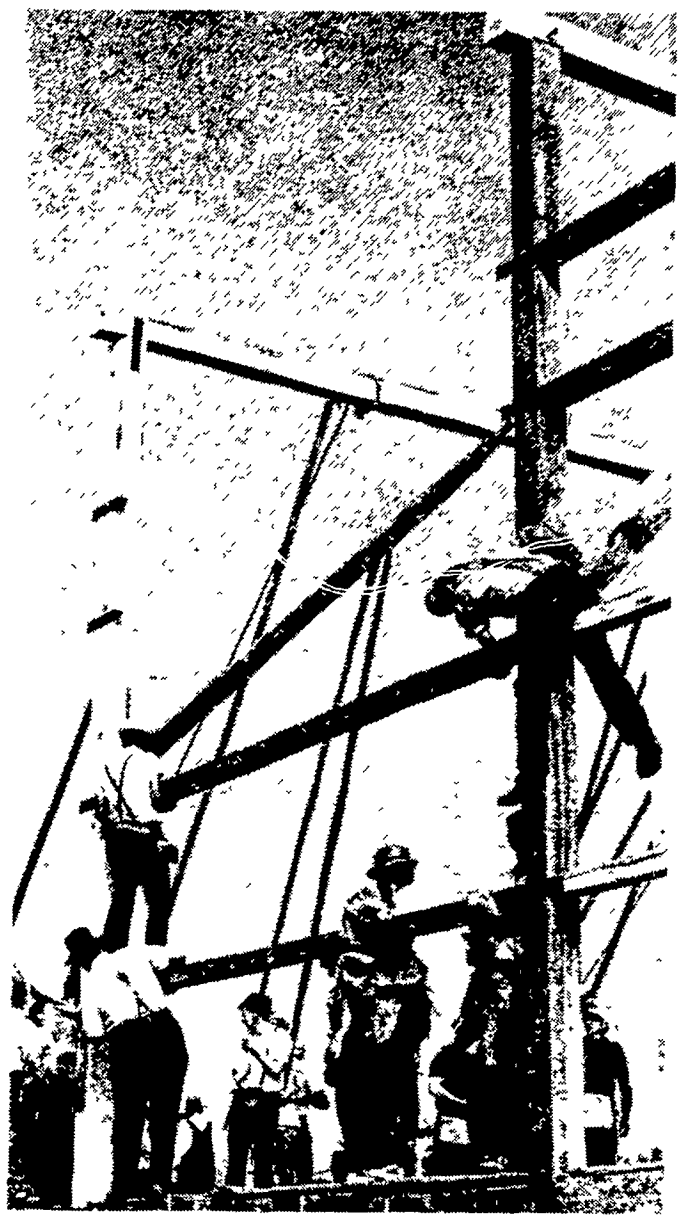
Directing the raising of the massive timbers was Isaac Hurst, of R1 East Earl.

"Up it goes, short ones first," he directed.

A little bit higher on the north end. Take it easy. Now, hold it in place."

The framework was fit together like a large puzzle. Each piece pre-cut, notched and marked for the assembly.

By day's end the entire framework and the roof were in place The only change in the structure was the roof. The original hip roof was replaced with trusses.—DA



Large timbers are raised into place as large tobacco shed is rebuilt on Reuben Weaver farm along Schoeneck Road.

Weaver, Donmoyer show grand champ Holsteins

BY SHEILA MILLER

LEBANON — Over 160 young FFA and 4-H dairy enthusiasts competed in this year's Lebanon Area Fair dairy shows.

The grand champion in the Holstein division of the 4-H Show was exhibited by Dale E. Weaver, the son of John Weaver, Myerstown. His entry, a 2-year-old which he affectionately calls "Apple", was bred by Hubert S. Miller, Myerstown. Her sire is Hillhaven Standout Job out of a dam named Lime Rock Astronaut Sue Apple.

Apple placed first in her class of 2-year-olds before being tagged by Judge Wayne Locke of Mercersburg as the Senior Champion and later Grand Champion.

This was Weaver's first grand championship in his 6-year career of showing dairy cattle. But Weaver pointed out, winning is not new to his cow's family line — her mother was last year's champion at the South Eastern District Dairy Show.

In the FFA Holstein Show, Barry Donmoyer showed his 3-year-old cow, "Linda" to a first place in her class. She moved up to the Senior Champion title, and later stepped into the Grand Champion slot.

Donmoyer, from R2 Annville, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Donmoyer. His grand champ is one of 10 registered Holsteins Donmoyer is milking on his parents farm. She is a daughter of Junell Ivanhoe Chief Charlie out of Broslin Peg Ivanhoe Ken.

In the Ayrshire division, Brian Tshudy, Annville,

"Linda", a 3 year old Holstein, was the FFA Grand Champion at Tuesday's Lebanon Fair Dairy Show. She was shown by Barry Donmoyer, R2 Annville.

exhibited the grand champion, a junior yearling heifer, in the FFA Show. Diane Maulfair, last year's Lebanon County Dairy Princess, showed the Grand Champion in the 4-H Show. Her entry, Maulfair Acres S.S. Milkdud, was also the senior champion Ayrshire and first place 2-year-old.

Grand Champion in the Brown Swiss division went to Gary Mase, Lebanon, in the FFA Show and Patti Heilinger, Newmanstown, in the 4-H Show. Both of the cows were also the Senior Champions in their respective shows.

Ken Arnold, Schaefferstown, and Thomas Smith, Airville, took the Grand Championships in the Guernsey competition for FFA and 4-H respectively. They were the Senior Champions in their division too.

And in the Jersey shows, Sue Bomberger, Annville, and Marilyn Deaven, Fredericksburg, exhibited the Grand Champions for 4-H and FFA respectively Bomberger's entry, Quicksilver VM Brandy, was the Senior Champion in the 4-H show, while Deaven's entry, Mar-De Allen Jessie, was the Junior Champion.

The FFA chapter herds awards went to Eastern Lebanon County in the colored breed competition, with Annville-Cleona taking first place in Holsteins.

The 4-H Club Herd was won by NoSoAnn.

Hostetter wins tractor pull for 2nd year

LEBANON — For the second consecutive year, Jim Hostetter, Annville, has become the proud keeper of the winner's trophy for the Lebanon Area Fair's tractor pull in the 18,200 pound division Driving his International Harvestor 986 tractor, Hostetter claimed the rotating trophy with a pull of 268'½". If he wins the weight division at next year's fair, Hostetter will retire the trophy.

Coming in a close second was Hostetter's rival and cousin Ernie Hostetter. His Allis Chalmers 7060 tractor pulled the weight transfer sled a total of 260'3½".

The results of the tractor pulling contest are as follows.

Somerset County Fair to run August 17-23

MEYERSDALE — Final plans are being completed for the annual Somerset County Fair at Meyersdale, to be held this year August 17 through August 23.

Emerson Suder, President of the Fair Association, says the rural and farm exhibits and displays will be the best in the Fair's history.

The Fair opens with a horse show at 10 a.m. on August 17 in the centerfield. The evening program includes flag-raising ceremony, a vesper service and selection of a new Fair Queen to succeed Deborah Shaffer of Hooversville, who reigned as Queen the past year. All events are free on Sunday to the public.

Judging of all displays begins on Monday, August 18, with the evening feature being Jack Kochman's Thrill Show.

From then on throughout the week, outstanding programs have been planned, for both afternoon and evening.

A rodeo will be featured on Tuesday and a tractor pulling contest on Wednesday. Thursday will be a big day, including the annual horseshoe pitching contest, which attracts much attention, pony and horse pulling contests, and the Farmer's and Merchant's Parade.

Friday and Saturday, the final two days of the Fair, will be thrill days with motorcycle races, the Joie Chitwood Show and a 4-wheel drive truck pulling contest, and an auto destruction derby.

This year, log sawing and wood chopping contests have been added to the program.

A new building to house livestock is now under construction and will be complete for the Fair. The 50 foot by 180 foot building pole building, open on allsides, will house four rows of show animals, a modern milk house and milking stalls.

Somerset Countians interested in the Fair have contributed financially to help pay for the building, the exact cost is not known at this time.

All new facilities have been built to house hogs and sheep and the old sheep and hog barns will be used to house surplus stock.

The Somerset County Fair grounds is located a mile west of Meyersdale. The event has become the biggest agricultural exposition in Western Pennsylvania and one of the largest of it's type in the State.

Broiler chicks up eight percent

HARRISBURG — Placements of broiler chicks in the Commonwealth during the week ending July 26 were 2,211,000 according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service.

The placements were eight percent above the previous week and one percent above the corresponding week a year earlier. Average placements during the past nine weeks were two percent below a year ago.

Placements in the 21 key poultry producing states were 77,450,000, slightly below the previous week and three percent below the same week a year earlier. Average placements during the past nine weeks were three percent below a year ago.

Broiler-fryers slaughtered in Pennsylvania under federal inspection during the week ending July 16 totaled 1,948,000, with an average liveweight of 3.89 pounds.

Mrs. Butch Wilt, of Rawlings, Md., showed this prize winning quarter horse at the 1979 Somerset County Fair.

Benefits dairy princess program

Perry County cow sale tops $102,000

BY JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

LANDISBURG — Perry County's dairy princess program was the benefactor of a unique fund raising event, held last Friday evening at the Art Kling sale barn.

It was the third annual Princess Promotional sale, a consignment of registered Holstein dairy animals, with one percent of the total proceeds used to fund the county's dairy promotional activities. A record-breaking $102,500 of sales was generated during the spirited two hours of auctioneering.

Dumbelle Starlite Lynette, a Roybrook Starlite heifer bred to a son of Elevation, and out of an Elevation dam with 28,000 of milk and over 1100 fat, topped the sale at $4800. She went to Aryie Breedyk of Chino, California, and has been consigned by Dumbelle Farms, Landisburg.

A Citation R Maple daughter with a 2-year record of over 15,000 milk brought the second high price of $4000. From a dam with records over 20,000, she was purchased by Robert Bailor, Mifflintown. Consigners were Kenneth and Jane Benner of Millerstown.

Whit-Lane Farms of Mercersburg was final bidder on the third place seller, a 3-yr. old Elevation daughter sold for $3600. With a first lactation record of almost 16,000 pounds, she was from a Mil-Key Comet Sovereign dam with over 19,000 milk. Richard Kriebel of Millersburg R1 was the consignor.

The thousand dollars plus raised by the sale will boost the efforts of Perry County's enthusiastic and hard-working Princess Lisa McMillen, and her alternate Cheryl Byers.

Lisa is 18 and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean McMillen of Loysville R1. A June graduate of West Perry High School, Lisa will be a freshman at Mt. Alto campus of Penn State, majoring in theraputic recreation.

A former 4-H queen, in 1978-79, Lisa is in her ninth year of club membership. Admitting that she's tried almost every area of the program, including a year of dairy work, Lisa says that the horse and pony club is her favorite. Also an enthusiastic seamstress, she's a teen leader for her local sewing club.

Production from the McMillen family's 40-head herd is shipped to Hershey Foods. Lisa's main barn chore is feeding calves, although she finds herself with less and less time to help with the farm work since her selection as princess.

"If I'm not going for dairy princess appearances, then I'm busy planning for them," she reflects.

Alternate princess is Cheryl Byers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Byers, of Millerstown R1. She's 17 and a senior at Greenwood High School. The Byer's milk a herd of 36 and are members of Eastern Milk Producers.

Lisa and Cheryl have paired up to carry out a heavy summer schedule of promotional appearances, including a few rather unique twists in spreading the word about dairy products.

"We're working as a team," emphasizes Lisa. You'll rarely find one girl making an appearance without the other, although Cheryl will be handling appearances this Winter while Lisa is away at college.

While most milk promotions are geared toward younger children, Lisa and Cheryl felt that their peer group was the age level that needed a milk-drinking boost. So their planning to set up school appearances in the junior and senior high schools of the county's four districts Home economics classes will host the promotional team, with a focus on dairy nutrition as well as Lisa's appearing with her original skit

Another unique promotional opportunity tied with the teenage group came when the McMillen farm helped host West Perry's state champion baseball team. The school held a parade through the district for the team, and one of the stops was at the home of the dairy princess, where Lisa served her favorite milk punch of half chocolate milk blended with half softened vanilla ice cream.

She was especially pleased when 17 of her dairymen neighbors eagerly contributed two gallons of milk each for the celebration.

A week-long restaurant promotion, capped by Lisa and Cheryl dipping ice cream, was another successful dairy boost. Waitresses wore buttons promoting milk and there were brochures on the tables and specials on dairy products.

During several supermarket promotions, Lisa and Cheryl talked with shoppers and passed out their milk-ice cream drink and cheese chunks.

One would-be supermarket event turned into a bad experience, though. The girls were refused admittance to the Weis store due to a communications mix-up within management, a repeat of a similar incident experienced by last year's winner.

Lisa and Cheryl have also attended Headstart programs, visited with kids at the Duncannon day camp, are taking part in parades, dairy meetingts and senior citizens meetings. Lisa's taped a half-dozen radio spots and will be handing out ribbons and speaking at the upcoming Perry County fair, as well as making an appearance at Ag Progress Days at the milk promotion booth.

Pigskin council seeks members

Andy Harris wins at Cowtown

Andy Harris, of Cowtown, left the Cowtown Rodeo arena this past Saturday night as top bull rider for the evening and a very strong contender in the steer wrestling contest with $497.84 in his pocket to boot.

Andy rode a bull called "Everready" for the eight second time limit, a big 73 points and to the pure enjoyment of the crowd that packed the rodeo. His time of 10.8 seconds for throwing his steer placed him in the 2nd place in that event out of a field of seven.

Johnny Harp on "Yosemite Sam" and John Graham on "Chewbacca" sewed up the 2nd and 3rd places in the bull riding contest with a tie of 64 points each from judges Chris Risoli and Stanley Thomas. Both Harp and Graham won $245.

Bareback bronc riding saw Jimmie Lee Walker from Clayton, N.J. on a horse called "Broken Boar" take 1st place money, $196, for his ride and score of 67 pts. Not too far behind Jimmie Lee were Buck Howard with 63 pts. and Rex Johnson 62 pts., together with 147.00 & 98. respectively.

In a field of 12 barrel races, once again longtime veteran Lorraine Alexander from Newton, N.J. took 1st place with a time of 17.59 seconds. Lorraine received $143.56 for her rounds of the pre-set cloverleaf. Kathy Sleeter with 18.67 claimed 2nd place and Liz Deveno 3rd with $107.76 and $71.78, respectively.

Smokey Smith claimed the $141.00 first prize money for his 12.6 sec. time in calf-roping. A 16.3 for Andy Jackson and a 32.4 time for E.T. Buffington from Bear, Delaware, were all that was needed for the 2nd & 3rd place monies in this event. Buff missed his calf on his first throw, and having the foresight to carry (2) loops, was successful in roping his calf the second try to come into 3rd place money of $70.56. Second place paid $105.84.

Most fans know that the cornerstone of the rodeo itself is the Saddlebronc riding contest. Staying in the saddle requires more balance and timing than just brute strength alone. Donnie Reeder scored high here with 63 points on a horse called "Mr. Moore" to wrap up first place honors. Jackie Hammett on "Velvet Delivery" and David West on "Sweetwater" claimed second and third positions in that order.

More than 3300 fans witnessed the August 2nd performance.

Cowtown Rodeo will continue to provide family entertainment at its best every Saturday evening at 7:30 p.m. up through August 30th. While weekly shows are provided at Cowtown throughout the summer season, another identical Cowtown Rodeo goes on the road. Up and coming road shows will be given in North Washington, Pa., (five performances); Harford County Fair, Harford, Pa., and the Rutland State Fair in Vermont later this month.

Huff takes Angus steer championships at N.J. field day

LEBANON, N.J. — Pennsylvania's David Huff, Lafayette, brought home both championships in the steer shows at the New Jersey Angus Field Day held here recently.

Huff's May steer won its class and went on to be tagged the champion Angus steer by judge Bert Mickel, of Southern Star Land and Cattle Co., Ocala, Florida.

In the April-May Angus Crossbred Steer class, Huff's entry also took top honors and went on to the championship in its division.

Another Pennsylvania youth, Debra Krause of Northampton, showed the reserve champion crossbred Angus, a July steer.

The grand champion heifer was a May entry exhibited by Leland Boggs, Claverack, New York. Taking the reserve champion honors in the female division was an April heifer shown by Jake Matys, Fairmont, New Jersey.

Over 500 people took part in the field day which was termed "the best ever" by Bob Mickel, manager of 1726 Farm, the field day host.

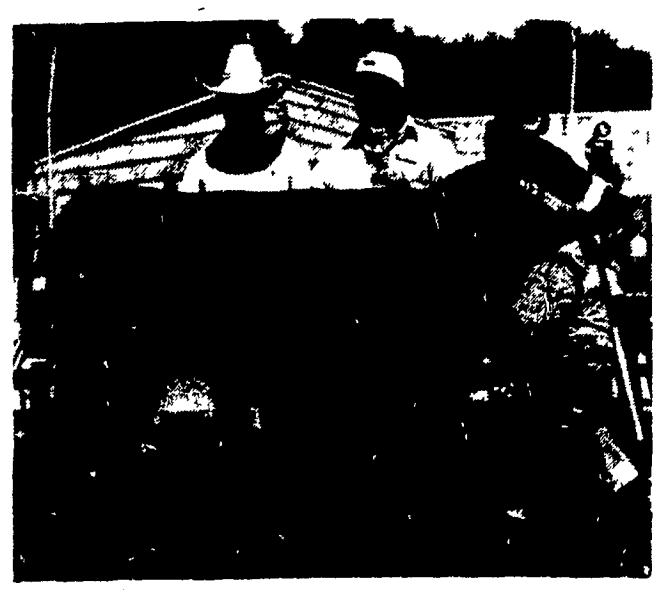
Prize monies given to the winners totalled over $500, said Mickel.

On hand for the event was the association's National Executive Secretary C.K. Allen. He discussed registrations and artificial insemination program in the Angus breed.

Ideal Farms, Augusta, New Jersey donated a heifer for the fund-raising auction held at the field day. The heifer brought $1350 for the association, selling to Richard and Denise Stokes, Hidden Spring Farms, Flemington, New Jersey This is the second fund-raising heifer purchased by the Stokes in the past two years.

There was also an auction of bull semen donated by Angus breeders from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York. Over $2000 was net for two straws and a certificate for such popular bulls as Patriot, Continental, Rally Consort, Geiger, Sir William, and Albruta Jumbo 22D. This money will go to both the state and junior Angus associations.

Ray Teaford showed the reserve champion Angus steer.



Jake Matys, Fairmount, New Jersey, exhibited the reserve champion heifer.

Debra Karuse, Northampton, brought home the reserve champion crossbred steer trophy.

Gilts successfully inseminated with frozen boar semen

BELTSVILLE, Md. — Insemination six hours after ovulation with frozen boar semen (thawed in a man-made thawing solution) produces more fertilized eggs than insemination of gilts at ovulation or 6, 12, or 18 hours before ovulation

"Our results indicate that for best fertility results using frozen boar semen, gilts should be inseminated late in estrus," says USDA scientist Vernon G Pursel.

A research physiologist at USDA's Beltsville Agricultural Center, Dr Pursel reported his research here today at the 72 Annual Meeting of the American Society of Animal Science.

"We inseminated 90 gilts using frozen sperm thawed in two different solutions. One was a thaw solution developed by Beltsville scientists in 1975, and the other was the boar's natural seminal plasma," says Pursel of USDA's Science and Education Administration

With the use of drugs, researchers controlled the ovulation time of the gilts Gilts were then inseminated 18, 12 and 6 hours before ovulation, at ovulation, and six hours after ovulation

A greater percentage of the eggs were fertilized in gilts inseminated with the Beltsville thaw solution. Moreover, the Beltsville thaw solution yielded its highest fertilization rate when gilts were inseminated six hours after ovulation: 50 percent of the gilts' eggs were fertilized.

Although overall fertilization was higher using the Beltsville thaw solution, gilts inseminated with sperm thawed in seminal plasma yielded their highest rate if inseminated six hours before ovulation: 55 percent of their eggs were fertilized.

"This finding with frozen semen sharply contrasts with earlier experimental results that indicated the best time to inseminate fresh semen was 12 hours before ovulation," says Pursel.

"Summing up, then," he said, "the optimum time to inseminate gilts with frozen semen is dependent upon the type of thawing solution."

Enterotoxemia is lamb killer

NORRISTOWN — Enterotoxemia is an important cause of death in baby lambs in Pennsylvania, says Nancy M. Kadwill, County Agent, Penn State Cooperative Extension Service.

Baby lambs which come down with enterotoxemia, or overeating disease, may die suddenly and show no definite lesions on post-mortem examination. Older lambs being fed for market may become sluggish and show a wobbly gait. Some of them may be sick for several days before they die.

Kadwill says that the best way to prevent enterotoxemia in baby lambs is to have ewes vaccinated with enterotoxemia vaccine at least two weeks before lambing. This vaccine is known as Colstridium perfringens type B and D toxoid. Lambs may be vaccinated at 2 weeks and again at 4 weeks of age.

Lambs to be fitted for shows or sales should be vaccinated again at least 2 weeks before they are placed on full feed, says Kadwill. Bring them onto full gradually.

Beam shows grand champ at Berks hog show

Nelson Beam, R2 Elverson, received $4 a pound for his 250 pound grand champion market hog at the Berks County FFA Hog Show and Sale.

BY LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

LEESPORT — Two red hogs owned by members of the Twin Valley FFA swept the honors at the annual Berks County FFA Hog Show and Sale, held here July 30th at the Leesport Market and Auction.

Grand Champion exhibitor, Nelson Beam, 17, of R2 Elverson, took home one of the highest paid premiums for an FFA champion hog in Berks County for several years, if not for all time. Hatfield Packing paid $4 a pound for the 250 pound grand champ Behind Beam was Reserve Champion exhibitor, Tim Stoltzfus, 17, R2 Elverson, whose hog also brought an outstanding price. Hatfield Packing paid $2.90 per pound for the Reserve Champion that weighed 220 pounds.

Both hogs were Duroc x Yorkshire x Hampshire crosses.

Beam and Stoltzfus continued to display their skills during the showmanship and fitting contest. Stoltzfus, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilmer Stoltzfus, captured the Champion Showman honors while Beam, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Beam, was named the Champion Fitter.

This was the first year Nels Beam competed in this event, even though he has been showing hogs in 4-H since he was nine.

Beam will be a senior at Twin Valley High Shcool this Fall and works at home on his father's farm. The Beams farm about 400 acres and have a 400-500 head farrow-to-finish hog operation. They also feed out 100 to 200 in their operation.

Tim Stoltzfus is a 1980 graduate of Twin Valley High School. He exhibited last year's Grand Champion at this event. His younger brother, Scott, took the honors in 1978 Tim has been showing in 4-H for about eight years.

Junior Fitting Champion was Daniel Faust, R1 Kempton, a member of Kutztown FFA; and Junior Showmanship Champion was Todd Miller, R2 Hamburg, a member of Hamburg FFA.

The judge for the show was Gregory Snyder, New Tripoli, field manager for Vigortone Products.

Eastern Pennsylvania Pork Producers Association presented a plaque for the Grand Champion Hog and the Berks-Lehigh Pork Producers Association presented a plaque to the Reserve Champion Exhibitor.

A total of 59 hogs were shown by 17 FFA members representing seven FFA chapters. Total value of the hogs sold was $8181.33 with the total weight being 12,168 pounds. Average price per pound with the champions was $.64 and was $.54 per pound without the champions included.

Buyers of the hogs were Hatfield Packing, Hatfield; Penn Packing, Philadelphia; Oscar Baumer, Shamokin; Lynn Schwann, Herndon; Clark's Packing, Shamokin; and Leesport Market and Auction, Leesport.

Two cherry growers named to advisory board

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell has announced the appointment of two red cherry growers to the Pennsylvania Red Cherry Marketing Advisory Board.

The new appointees are Everett Weiser, R1, York Springs, Adams County, and William Wilson, R1, Biglerville, Adams County. Weiser and Wilson will serve three-year terms, concluding June 30, 1983.

The six-member Advisory Board administers the Red Cherry Marketing Program, which includes promotions, marketing research and advertising for Pennsylvania red cherries.

Funds for the program are derived from an assessment of $2 per ton on all red cherries sold for processing from Pennsylvania orchards.

Hallowell said he was pleased that Weiser and Wilson had accepted the appontments. "Men like Everett Weiser and William Wilson will be important to the board's efforts to improve promotion of red cherry products," he said.

"An improved agricultural economy must rely on contributions from all segments of the state's farm community. The red cherry growers of the state have repeatedly demonstated their willingness to improve and expand, and the Department of Agriculture stands ready to assist them in their efforts," he said.

Pennsylvania ranks fifth nationally in the production of red tart cherries. In 1979, production amounted to 3,150 tons of cherries valued at $3.12 million.

The Red Cherry Marketing Program was first approved by the growers of Pennsylvania in 1974, and renewed in a 1979 referendum with an 87 percent vote of approval from growers voting.

See Our Equipment At Ag Progress Days - Aug. 19-21 at the Conservation Demonstration Area,
Penn State University
Rock Springs Ag Center

COCALICO EQUIPMENT HAS THE TWO MACHINES TO HANDLE YOUR DRAINAGE PROBLEMS.
★ Both Machines Equipped with Laser Beam Grade Control

Drainage Pays High Returns

Investment	Typical Annual Return
Land Drainage	21-46%
Farm Buildings	3-23%
Farm Land	11%
Stocks	7 4%

COMPARE
Even with the conservative figures shown here, it's obvious that land drainage should top farmers' lists of investment priorities.

Teets shows grand champ Angus bull at Western Pa preview

The bull, Gallaghers Paul Revere, was also the junior champion bull before being tagged by show judge Ronald Bolze, Loysville, as the grand champ.

Reserve grand champion bull was Rally Adventure 1028, the senior champion, shown by Mr and Mrs Raymond Tait, Mercer

The open and junior show heifer championships were won by the same animal Grand champion was MB Master Princess 935, the intermediate champion shown by Kirke McKean of Mercer

Allan McKean had the reserve grand champion, MB Power Girl 920

McKean Brothers, Mercer, exhibited the best six head of breeding cattle in the open show and showed the first place get-of-sire group

Grand champion heifer of the open and junior divisions was this entry of Kirke McKean, Mercer, Pennsylvania. The heifer is MB Master Princess 935. Photo by American Angus Association.

Local airports regulated

WASHINGTON, D C — Three more airports—Philadelphia International, Philadelphia, Pa , Port Columbus International, Columbus, Ohio, and Greensboro-High Point Regional, N C —have been regulated by the U S Department of Agriculture because of high Japanese beetle populations

Eight airports are now regulated. In addition to the three new airports, airline personnel—under USDA supervision—at McGuire (N J) and Dover (Del) Air Force Bases, Baltimore-Washington International, Douglas Airport at Charlotte, N C , and Greater Cincinnatti Airport at Covington, Ky , are taking steps of keep the beetle off western-bound flights

Airports are regulated when Japanese beetle populations become so high that it is possible the pests can be carried by departing airplanes into non-infested western states

Japanese beetles feed on over 300 different plants The insect is spread over 22 eastern states but is unknown in the far west USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service is responsible for keeping the pest from getting to these western states aboard aircraft

Save Energy and get FREE HOT WATER

with the revolutionary FRE HEATER®

HERE S HOW IT WORKS

Rather than using noisy dust creating fans with fragile dirt collecting air cooled condensers the refrigerant is routed to a specially designed condenser/heat exchanger and its heat is transferred to the water

A thermostatically controlled valve delivers approximately 140°F water to the storage tank

In addition to the thermostatic valve a mixing valve is provided to permit prepping temperature water

ELIMINATES REFRIGERATION SERVICE PROBLEMS!

The most common causes of slow cooling in milk cooling systems are related to the air cooled condenser

The Fre-Heater eliminates these problems because

- There is no air cooled condenser
- The Fre Heater is installed indoors
- There are no noisy fans to fail
- The head pressure is very stable — assuring longer compressor life
- There are no cold weather starting problems plus the Fre-Heater conserves energy and produces Free Hot Water!

HOW MUCH HOT WATER CAN BE GENERATED?

There are many variables so this question cannot be answered directly however as a rule of thumb a Fre Heater operating on 60° F well water will produce a volume of approximately 140° F water similar to the amount of milk produced during a milking

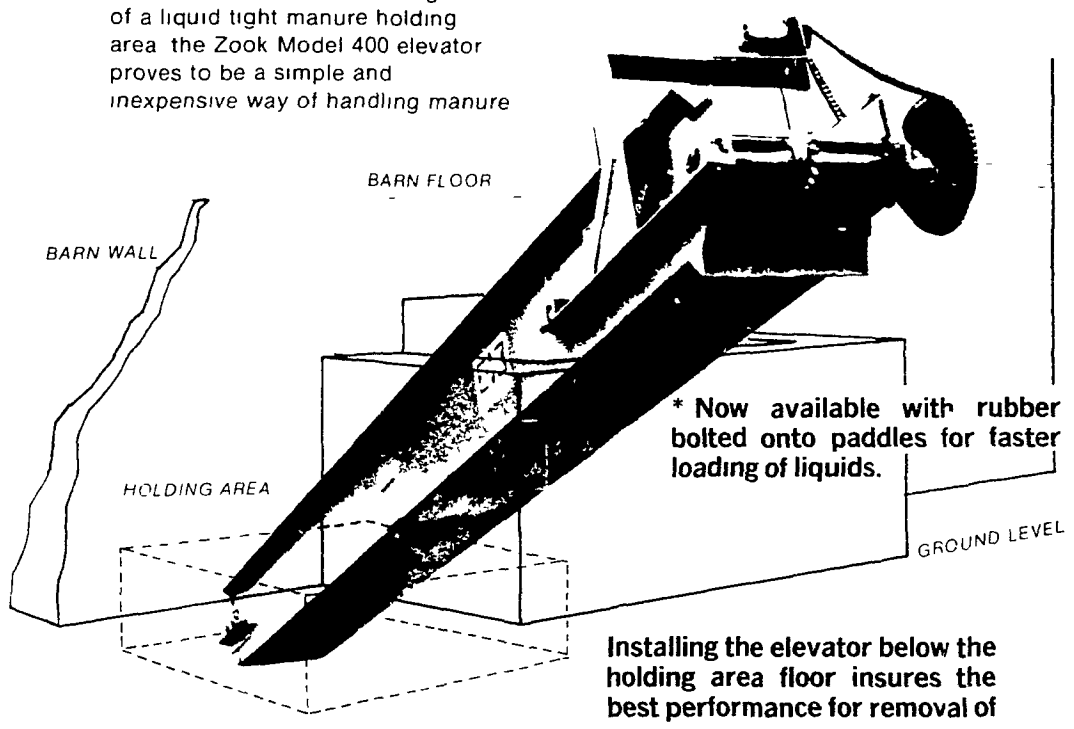
Manure Handling Equipment

ZOOK MANUFACTURING

Model 400 Manure Elevator

Here s a whole new concept in manure handling! When properly installed at and below the edge of a liquid tight manure holding area the Zook Model 400 elevator proves to be a simple and inexpensive way of handling manure



* Now available with rubber bolted onto paddles for faster loading of liquids.

Installing the elevator below the holding area floor insures the best performance for removal of manure.

- Handles both liquid and semi-solid manure
- Few moving parts require almost no maintenance
- Corrosion resistant high strength Corten steel construction
- Self lubricating bottom end bearings

GUNITE Silo Relining & Repairs

Extensive tests have been conducted on Gunite Below are some of the properties of Gunite
1 Excellent bonding
2 High Density
3 Extreme strength and hardness
4 High resistance to absorption

The excellent physical properties of the material are due to the water content being only the amount needed to satisfy chemical hydration

Reseal and re strengthen your silo with Gunite

Hisex White wins more contests around the world than any other layer! The secret is consistency — more eggs on less feed, more profit over feed cost flock after flock, under all sorts of commercial conditions! No wonder so many more egg producers are scoring with our white bird Hisex Brown, so easy to grow and handle, has everything, too — high peak, big hen-housed production, penny-pinching feed conversion You have to look to be sure it's brown! So whichever league you're in, get with a winner! Talk it over with your Hisex Representative Soon ventilation . . .

Keep animals comfortable, and you keep them far more thrifty and far more profitable. Chore-Time's Advanced Air Systems approach combines controlled air inlets with the finest variable speed and single speed fans and other components. They're fitted to your specific building. The result is year-around, day-in and day-out comfort for your animals.

sow feeding . . .

Taking gestating sows out of the "maddening crowd" and putting them into their own individual stalls with a Chore-Time feeding system is the way to bigger litters, better litters, more litters from each sow, and more money for you to keep. Farmers can get back $16 or more for every dollar invested in a Chore-Time Sow Feeding System.

Don and Virginia Ranck host farm vacationers

Farming out rooms works well for the Rancks

BY SUSAN KAUFFMAN
Staff Correspondent

Having vacationers come to their farm for a visit has been a good experience says Don and Virginia Ranck, a young couple who have continued Don's family's ten-year tradition of operating a dairy farm which welcomes tourists to lodge with them. The younger Rancks have been accommodating guests for the past five years. They both agree that it provides many opportunities for both the host and the guest families.

The Rancks started farming on Don's parents' farm one mile east of Strasburg five years ago. For the decade previous to their taking over the operation, Don's parents had been in the farm vacation business. The 1896 frame farmhouse was large enough to provide four units for visitors. While the home has very modern conveniences, there is a nice blend of warmth and charm in the room decor complete with high headboard beds, a claw-footed tub and hand-fashioned quilts and coverlets.

While the vacationers visit with the Rancks they can see a modern 94 acre dairy farm in operation. The family milks sixty-two registered Holsteins in a milking parlor and raise their replacements bringing the total of dairy animals on the farm to 125 head.

Visitors can see hay and corn as well as tobacco and barley being raised in the fields. They can play with the cats and kittens and fish in the farm pond. But more then likely they will surely remember Ginny's delicious home-grown breakfasts.

Each morning, Ginny serves breakfast promptly at 8:30 a.m. to those who wish to join the family for the morning meal. The Rancks have room to lodge a maximum of eighteen people, but Ginny says not all the rooms are full and if they are, not all the guests elect to sit down to breakfast.

"A lot of guests have had a smorgasborg aor all-you-can-eat meal the night before and want to skip breakfast," Ginny explained.

Ginny's kitchen was newly refurbished two years ago and redecorated and equipped with everything from indirect lighting along the ceiling to a microwave oven. But she uses a very special old family recipe to delight her guests' appetites. She serves whole wheat crumb pies, omelettes-including a favorite made with longhorn cheese–, fresh milk, local produce and home-grown and locally cured bologna and dried beef.

The recipe Ginny uses for the whole wheat crumb pies comes from Grandma Lillian Habecker, Ginny said she has never seen a similar recipe anywhere and the combination of whole wheat and butter make this recipe very tasty.

Even before Ginny started serving her "crumb sugar pie," guests were making return visits to the Verdant View Farm. One family will be returning this Summer for their fifteenth year! "We have seen their children grow up," Ginny said. They call this 'their farm' and the daughters bring their boyfriends down from New York where they live to show them 'their farm'!"

The family sees most of its guests from Easter through summer into fall. Ginny checked her books and found there were a total of 95 individuals who stayed for various lengths of time in June this Summer. She served breakfast to sixty-four of the ninety-five. Ginny said that the months of July and August are much busier than June.

The visitors often find their way to Verdant View from a farm vacation booklet published by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Rural Affairs. The farm vacation directory lists farms all over the state which have been inspected and approved for taking in visitors. All who belong to the Pennsylvania Farm Vacation Association pay a membership fee and are inspected annually. The farm vacations are billed by the recent directory as "a growing alternative to the hectic schedule of a touring vacation and much easier on gasoline."

The Rancks and Mike and his mother work in the kitchen and take a few minutes to talk to each other. Mike's mother was visiting her son on the weekend. He is at the Rancks' for the summer.

While the farm vacation may offer the visitor a change of pace and different scenery as well as a chance to see a different way of life where the family works side by side day in and day out, the advantages work both ways, say Don and Ginny.

"Since we are, by the nature of the farm life, restricted from traveling or meeting others away from the farm, we come into contact with people from all professions as guests," Don explained.

Another nice aspect about having guests on the farm is that host and guest can enjoy each others' company and still get the work done. "They can watch and ask questions while we milk in the parlor and when we have to leave to get a cow they can watch something else until we get back to the parlor," Ginny said.

The Rancks visit with their guests most after breakfast. Some farm vacations hosts do not serve breakfast and find they visit with the guests in the evening. Don and Virginia have three small children–Eldon, 6, Heather, 4, and Aaron, 9 months. Ginny finds her schedule of serving breakfast suits her better than nightime visiting. Don, on the other hand, often takes time to talk with the guests in the evening, especially if he knows they will be departing the next day.

Ginny has part-time help from a neighbor to assist her in the housekeeping chores. While the children are too young to help with the domestic tasks, they keep the visiting children entertained, Ginny added.

This Summer, the Rancks have a former guest for a fulltime employee. Mike Davon came with his parents to the farm three years ago for a brief vacation. His home is in Danbury, Connecticut. Last Summer he returned for a two-month stay and learned alot about the farm work. He decided, after the Ranck's had offered him a job, to turn down a summer job in an electronic firm in Connecticut and come back to the farm to work.

Mike said, "A robot could do the job I would have been doing in the electronics firm. I would not have any real decisions to make. I would be checking and checking over and over again the same things and working inside all the time." Mike will be a senior this Fall when he returns to his high school. He looks to a future in computer science, bio-medical engineering or medicine, he says. His parents both have professions. His father is a mechanical engineer and his mother is a real estate broker.

For this summer, at least, Mike chose to not only visit, but also, to work on a Pennsylvania dairy farm. He enjoys tractor work when it is not too slow-going and welding. Part of his job is to milk or help milk both milkings each day. Getting up at 5 a.m. is part of his daily routine, as is helping to show the tourists around and doing whatever else needs to be done on a busy farm.

Whether it is a chance to make contact with people from many walks of life, the chance to visit while the work continues or even the unusual chance to discover a valuable employee, farm vacation hosting has been a good experience for Don and Virginia Ranck.

Ginny shares her Grandmother's special crumb sugar pie recipe:

Crumb Sugar Pie

Mix all together: (Ginny uses a pastry blender)
1 cup whole wheat flour
1½ cup white flour
1 cup granulated sugar
½ cup butter
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
pinch of salt

Mix all together with a pastry blender. Take out ½ cup crumbs and set aside. Mix 1 cup sweet milk into remaining crumb mixture. Spoon into 9-inch unbaked pie crust. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Bake at 350°F for 30 minutes. Yields 2 9-inch pies. This is also called Breakfast Cake.

Don and Virginia and youngest child Aaron are shown on the kitchen steps of Verdant View Farm.

Dairy princesses gather for workshop

LORETTO — The Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Training Seminar was held recently at St Francis College, Loretto.

The purpose of the seminar is to train the local dairy princesses and alternates for their reign This year 39 local dairy princesses and 28 alternates attend workshops such as nutrition, haircare, poise, public speaking, skincare and make-up

Also 48 committee people attended the seminar to acquaint themselves with the latest milk promotion programs.

The 1979-1980 Pennsylvania Dairy Princess, Eileen Shull of Bucks County, participated in the seminar and greeted the largest number of participants ever to attend

The 39 local dairy princesses will compete for the title of Pennsylvania Dairy Princess on September 22 and 23 at the Penn Harris Motor Inn, Camp Hill

The Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Program is sponsored by the Atlantic Dairy Association, an organization funded by dairy farmers to promote dairy products through research, education, advertising, merchandising, publicity, and public relations

The 1980 Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Seminar coordinator was Judy Diebold from Altoona

Garden Recipes — the pick of the crop

Despite the heat and dry spells we've had lately, many gardeners are up to their ears in tomatoes, squash, corn and other garden vegetables If you are one of them and don't have a roadside stand to dispense the bounty, why not try some new recipes with the same old vegetables. And if you share the excess with a friend, why not include some of our recipes with the produce to help them enjoy your gift to the fullest?

If the squash in your garden has you chasing after some new serving ideas, why not try the Summertime Squash recipe with potato chips topping? New ideas for squash and other vegetables are included today.

SUMMERTIME SQUASH

1½ pounds sliced squash
6 medium mushrooms, halved
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon dill weed
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅔ cup milk
½ cup sour cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup crushed potato chips

In a saucepan, cook squash and mushrooms in 1 inch of water until barely tender Drain thoroughly and make the sauce. In a small saucepan, melt butter over medium heat and stir in flour. Cook 1 minute. Stir in dill weed, salt, pepper and milk. Cook and stir about 3 minutes until thickened. Stir in sour cream and lemon juice. Heat through. Arrange hot vegetables in a serving dish and pour sauce over all. Top with crushed potato chips. Makes 4-6 servings.

TOMATO SOUP

3 ripe tomatoes
1 tablespoon butter
dash of soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 quart milk

Put the tomatoes in the blender, including the skins and blend until smooth. Slightly brown the butter in a skillet and add pureed tomato and salt. Boil 5 minutes. Add a dash of soda and a quart of milk. Heat again but do not boil. Serve immediately.

Mrs. Lloyd Burkholder, Ephrata

STUFFED PEPPERS

4 large peppers, remove stems and seeds through the small top opening
1 pound ground hamburger
2 large tomatoes or 1 can whole tomatoes
2 tablespoons rice
salt and pepper to taste

Add seasoning to raw hamburger. Fill the peppers with the meat. Place the peppers upright in a stewpot. Pour pureed tomato over and on the peppers. Sprinkle rice over the holes and simmer 1½ hours.

Mrs. Charles Biehl, Mertztown

CORN FRITTERS

3 egg yolks.
1½-2 cups drained cooked or canned whole kernel corn
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
dash of pepper
¼ cup flour
3 stiffly beaten egg whites

Stir all ingredients except the egg whites until blended. Fold in the egg whites and fry in about ½ inch hot shortening or salad oil. Drop the batter by teaspoonsful. Fry on both sides until browned, about 3 minutes. Serve hot with syrup.

Mrs. Charles Biehl, Mertztown

EGG PLANT AND SAUSAGE BAKE

1 egg plant
¼ cup salad oil
½ pound bulk sausage
2 tomatoes, sliced
½ cup grated Cheddar cheese

Preheat the oven to 350° F. Peel and slice the eggplant. Soak in salted water for 20 minutes. Drain and pat dry. Heat oil in a medium skillet. Add the eggplant and cook until browned. Place in a lightly greased 8x8x2 inch baking pan. Add sausage to the skillet. Cook, stirring with a fork to break up the meat. Cook until browned Spoon sausage evenly over the eggplant Top with tomato slices. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake 20 minutes or until done.

Thelma Gavlak, Acme

SCALLOPED POTATOES

4 medium potatoes, sliced
2 tablespoons butter
1½ tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
dash of pepper
1 onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley or celery leaves

Melt the butter over low heat and stir in the flour Add the milk gradually, stirring constantly Stir in salt and pepper Cook, stirring constantly until the sauce boils Place sliced potatoes in a greased casserole with sliced onion and parsley or celery leaves Pour sauce over the top Bake at 350° F for 1 hour

DEEP FRIED EGGPLANT

Peel eggplant and cut into 1 inch squares. Beat an egg and a little milk and dip the eggplants into the egg mixture. Put the squares into a covered container with cracker crumbs and shake until well coated. Fry in deep fat until crisp and brown. Salt and serve.

Ladies Have You Heard?

HOW TO WASH A BLANKET

Always measure a woolen blanket before washing. It should be blocked or stretched to original size after laundering Pretreat spots and stains. If the binding is heavily soiled, brush it prior to laundering with a liquid detergent or a paste made of detergent granules or soap and water Or use a prewash soil and stain remover. Wash only one large blanket at a time.

Fill the washing machine with warm or cold water depending on the degree of soil; set control for a cold water rinse. Add detergent or soap Agitate briefly to dissolve the product completely. Stop the washer, add the blanket Distribute it loosely and evenly around the agitator Soak for 10 to 15 minutes, depending on the amount of soil Start the washer and advance the control until agitation stops and wash water has been pumped out of the tub After about 1 minute spin, slowly advance the timer to the deep rinse cycle Allow wash cycle to finish automatically

A fabric softener may be used in the washer or dryer to help reduce static cling and make a blanket soft and fluffy

Depending on the construction of the blanket, synthetics and those made of cotton can be washed on a permanent press, knit or delicate cycle.

BIGGER AND BETTER

If you're a woman and larger than a fashion model — and a lot of women are — what do you wear to look your best?

Certainly not just loose-fitting, dark-colored clothing The days when the fashion industry ignored larger women are over Companies are making more styles — and more stylish clothing — for bigger women than ever before Of course, not everyone looks good in everything Here are some pointers for looking better, not bigger

— Avoid bulky fabrics Choose smooth natural-looking ones that stay pressed

—All white — and that old standby, all black — can make you appear larger. Jewel tones, that are popular now, are flattering to full figures

— Prints and plaids are okay, if colors are subtle and harmonizing, and you stay away from small-and-fussy and large-and-bold patterns

— Choose designs that lead the eye up and down — not around If your dress doesn't have vertical lines, create them with a long scarf, or long beads, or a jacket worn open

— Choose simple, loose-fitting styles that suggest — rather than define — the body shape But not too loose - fullness exaggerates size

— Your best is simply a matter of taste and appropriateness — qualities that anyone can develop

Angus embryo auction raises nearly $50 grand

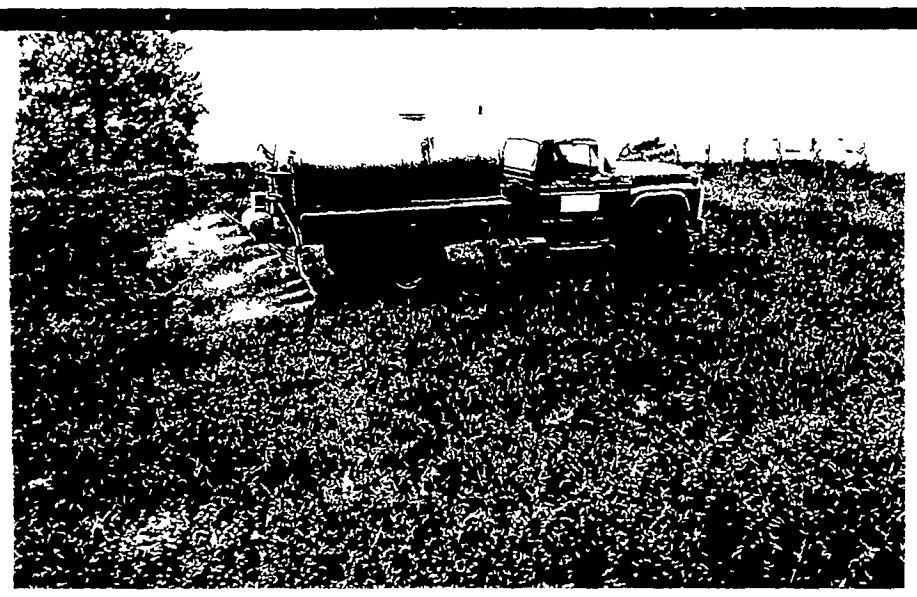
ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Nearly $50,000 changed hands in some 30 minutes on July 28 at the All-American Embryo Auction featured at the American Angus Breeders' Futurity in Louisville, Kentucky.

R&J Ranch, Briggs, Texas, consigned an embryo from Southern Tall Errolline 29E by General JJ Patton that brought a $15,000 bid from Tom Morris, Houston, Texas.

An embryo from Schearbrook Blackbird 160X by Premier Progressor was offered by Premier Beef Cattle, Fowlerville, Michigan, and sold for $11,500 to W&W Cattle Co, Carlisle, Kentucky; and Claude Paul, Paris, Kentucky

Another $11,500 bid bought an embryo from Fleetwood Blackcap 176 by Ken Caryl Mr. Angus 8017, consigned by Fleetwood Farm, Inc., Ghent, New York. Buyers were Meng Angus Farm, Bowling Green, Kentucky; Dr Sidney Marcum, Rough Route Farm, Fisherville, Kentucky; Dr. Dan Mahaffey, Sinco 5 Angus, Louisville, Kentucky; and Dr. Dean Canan, Canan Farm, Louisville, Kentucky

Briarhill Angus Farm, Union Springs, Alabama, and Bur Cole Embryological Sciences, Grovetown, Georgia, offered an embryo from Briarhill Blackcap Lady 2553 by General JJ Patton. R&J Ranch won the bid at $11,250.



ARCADIAN® liquid gives a profitable boost to alfalfa after every cutting.

Give alfalfa a liquid boost after the first cutting.

That's when topdressing N-P-K, and micronutrients in an Arcadian® liquid fertilizer made with POLY-N® pays big dividends in high yielding, high quality alfalfa. You can even add pesticides if you need to.

When it's done right, a topdressing after every cutting will increase the yields. It will raise the protein content. Help the crop compete better against grasses. And improve the vigor for a long stand life

Arcadian liquid makes it easy Made the SLF® way. Arcadian liquid gives you uniform distribution of fertilizer ingredients from start to finish. It's truly the efficient way to turn alfalfa into green gold

SCALLOPED CORN

2 cups cooked, canned or fresh corn
1 cup milk
⅔ cup cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons melted butter
dash of pepper
1 tablespoon sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon onion salt

Beat eggs and add milk and crumbs. Add corn, seasonings and butter Mix together well and pour into a greased casserole. Bake at 350° F. for 40 minutes. Serves 6

Miriam Ocker, Williamson

BAKED CREAMED POTATOES

4 tablespoons margarine
2 cups milk
salt and pepper to taste
4 tablespoons flour
3 cups diced, cooked, pared potatoes
¼ pound thinly sliced Cheddar cheese

Melt margarine in a 1½ quart sauce pan over low heat. Blend in flour thoroughly. Add milk all at once. Cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened. Mix lightly with diced potatoes in a 1½ quart shallow baking dish, adding salt and pepper to taste. Arrange the thin slices of cheese over the top. Bake in 350° F. oven until cheese melts, 20-25 minutes.

Mrs. Carl Bacon, Felton

CREAMY COLESLAW

1 small green cabbage, cut into 1-inch pieces
½ green pepper, cut up
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
¼ cup dairy sour cream
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
dash of pepper

Fill the blender container to top-cup marking with vegetables Add cold water just to cover vegetables. Cover container and follow manufacturer's instructions or run just long enough to chop vegetables, about 3-4 seconds. Pour mixture into strainer and drain thoroughly. Repeat with remaining vegetables. Mix mayonnaise, sour cream, lemon juice, salt, mustard, and pepper Pour over chopped cabbage and green pepper and mix. Makes 4-6 servings

Carol Fantom, Delta

14 DAY COLE SLAW

1½ cups vinegar
½ cup water
1¼ cups sugar
1 teaspoon celery seed
1½ teaspoons mustard seed
½ teaspoon tumeric
1½ teaspoons salt
1 medium head cabbage
½ spanish onion
1 medium carrot
1-2 green peppers
½ cup salad olives, optional

In a saucepan, stir the vinegar, water, sugar, celery seed, mustard seed, tumeric and salt and bring to a boil. Cool. Shred the remaining ingredients and combine in a large bowl. Pour cooled dressing over all and mix well. Store in covered jars in the refrigerator for use within 2 weeks.

Annabelle Menegus, Belvidere, New Jersey

SCHOOL GIRL PICKLES

Make a salt brine strong enough to float an egg. Soak 13 pounds of cucumbers in the salt brine for 2-3 weeks. Drain. Rinse. Cut cucumbers in chunks or sliced in half or leave small pickles whole. Soak in fresh water for 24 hours. Drain off water and soak for 6 hours in alum water. (Use 7 tablespoons of alum for each 6 pounds of cucumbers.) Drain, heat enough vinegar to boiling to cover cucumbers. Pour over and let stand 24 hours. Pour off vinegar and discard.

Pack cucumbers in a large stone jar or crock, then put a layer of sugar and spices and a layer of cucumbers until all are used Use 8 pounds of sugar to 13 pounds of cucumbers. Use 2 boxes stick cinnamon, ½ box whole cloves or spices desired. Let stand 5 or more days and the pickles are ready to use.

This pickle does not have to be canned and will keep indefinitely. Store in a cool place. May add more sugar if a sweeter pickle is desired.

Alma Sanders, Westminster, Maryland

HARVARD BEETS

½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cornstarch
¼ cup water
2 teaspoons butter
12 small cooked beets
¼ cup vinegar

Mix sugar and cornstarch. Add vinegar and water and boil 5 minutes. Add beets, cut into slices, to hot sauce. Let stand at least 30 minutes. Bring to the boiling point again just before serving and add butter.

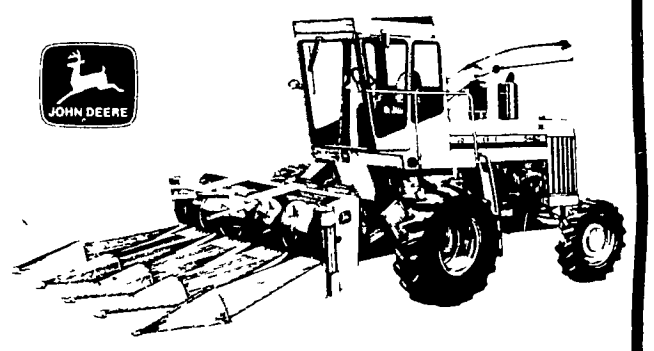
AFFORDABLE



Here's why a move from pull-type to self-propelled forage harvesting can pay for itself

A self-propelled forage harvester is an investment, not a luxury You're purchasing the ability to harvest more of your silage at its nutritional peak You're gaining the ability to open your own fields, and the extra maneuverability self-propelled harvesting offers. You have in your hands the ability to keep your entire silage operation (from field to silo) running at full capacity Now you can use your high-horsepower tractors for other jobs You may be able to reduce manpower needed. Adverse field conditions are no longer a major problem.

Come in and sit down with us Let's talk about your silage operation and why your next move should be to self-propelled harvesting.

Delaware gets new dairy princess

WILMINGTON, Del. — Judy Wright, a 23-year-old candidate for a masters degree in plant science at the University of Delaware, is the state's new Dairy Princess. She was crowned during dairy industry festivities at the recent Delware State Fair in Harrington.

Judy, who hails from Wilmington, has been working on a dairy farm in nearby Landenberg, Pa , for the past two-and-a-half years, so she knows a good bit about the subject of milk production

As 1980 Delaware Dairy Princess she will visit schools and shopping centers to talk about milk and nutrition. She will also represent the local dairy industry at various agricultural events throughout the year, and will appear on radio and television.

A member of collegiate 4-H FFA. and the Agronomy Club, Judy describes herself as a ' club person"

"Ten years from now," she says, "I hope to own a dairy farm and be a county agent " Her father, Everett Wright, is a duPont company chemist.

For the first time a runner-up was also chosen from among competitors for the title of Dairy Princess. Runner-up is Mardi Pyott, who lives on a farm near Dover. Active in 4-H and her high school band, Mardi hopes to go into teaching and, eventually, law

Senator Thurman G Adams, Jr , chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee, made the presentations. In retiring her crown, last year's Princess, Marian Hopkins noted that there will be plenty of work for her two successors. There's a real need, she says, for more nutritional information in schools and stores.

Judy Wright of Wilmintgon is state's 1980 Dairy Princess A graduate student at the U of D, she works on a dairy farm and hopes in time to become a county agent.

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Now I've heard everything

A Massachusetts superior court ruled last week that a wife could sue her husband for injuries she sustained on a sidewalk he hadn't properly cleaned of snow

Good grief Think of the horrendous spousal-lawsuit possibilities hanging around a farm

Just suppose that, in my usual clumsiness, I slip on a pile of manure in the milking parlor while on my way to hose down after the morning work Can I sue the farmer for leaving the milking facilities in such a mess? Or could he sue me to recover the costs of my injuries since it was my fault for not having cleaned it up sooner?

He slips and smacks against the wall on milk that he sent over for the calves and I spilled while pouring it into bottles Am I liable?

Or I bruise a toe falling over the boots he left laying right outside the barn door Can I claim damages?

Or, we both get trampled by a heifer while loading her up for a cattle show Do we file counter suits against each other?

Such lunacy almost makes one wish that the spouse of the judge or judges responsible for handing down such decisions would be the first one to initiate lawsuit papers

WILL SOYBEAN MEAL BE TOO HIGH TO BUY? GIVE CHEAPER PROTEIN A TRY

Our program gives ¼ or ⅓ or ½ more protein than farmers are used to in their hay & grain That is all you need This organic protein is better than bought protein, & no extra expense - rather less, because our basic fertilizer "soft rock phosphate" costs only $83 per ton - not because it isn't good, but because it comes bulk direct from the mines by R R and into the spreader trucks A minimum of handling It is the greatest thing to balance the high potash found on most eastern farms We challenge any test when mixed with manure or our BX soil bacteria in the fall, or maybe a little of our nitrogen It is wonderful for pasture, new or old alfalfa & small grains We can't tell you how good it is in a small ad We prefer to send literature, explaining the bug disease & drought resistance of crops & the high feed value producing healthier livestock A call or post card doesn't cost you much or stop in & have your questions answered

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

I'm sure most of us have been listening to chain saws buzzing these last few weeks. The recent wind storm that damaged many farm buildings also brought down many trees.

We were lucky in that when a large branch broke off of our 4 foot in diameter white mulberry tree, which is just a few feet from our new kitchen, it hit the building and glanced off and only broke one board. My garden didn't fare as well as the tree collapsed on it. How Allen and I did work to cut it up and carry all those limbs away to be burned

The job fell on us as our son was at the shore for a week and our daughter was attending a National Conference of Christians and Jews at Millersville College last week. When you need them, they aren't home. So, we bought another chain saw and got to work.

This wasn't the only tree that came down during the storm. A large ash fell across the lane and several tops were torn from linden and walnut trees in our woodland. At one time, no one would have bothered about the fallen trees but now things are different!

Our eighteen cottagers vie with each other as to who shall have the privilege of sawing the wood It can even cause hard feelings Our neighbors in a nearby building development get into the act also and ask for permission to cut their winter's supply of wood from our meadows

Trees can mark milestones in one's life as they are often referred to when stating when something happened. We might say that was before the plum tree fell or after the Bartlett pear tree came down. Many photos of my childhood include a family group posed beside a fallen tree in our yard. A gift of a tree will remind one of the donor many years later

This year for the first time, the papaw trees that my father and I planted are bearing fruit

I've always thought of trees as my friends, as I can name each one that I see, but recently they've been causing us trouble.

Seed firm pays $1350 fine

LANCASTER — Crosman Seed Corp , East Rochester, N Y , has paid $1350 to settle a case involving shipments of lettuce, parsnip, and chives against alleged to be in violation of the Federal Seed Act.

The case was settled in an agreement between the company and officials of the U.S Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service. In agreeing to the settlement, the company neither admitted nor denied any wrongdoing.

The case involved eight shipments made into Virginia, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Florida from June through August 1977.

Alleged violations, while not the same for all shipments, were failure to show the germination percentage, date of test and words "Below Standard" for vegetable seeds germinating less than the prescribed standards. Other alleged violations included false labeling of the date of the germination test and failure to keep required records

The act is a truth-in-labeling law designed to protect farmers and consumers who buy seed The Agricultural Marketing Service administers the act with the help of state seed agencies.

Seed regulatory officials in Pennsylvania, Virginia, New Jersey and Florida cooperated with the Agricultural Marketing Service in the investigations.

Charolais bull tops Utah test

HOUSTON, Tx — BCR Mr. Barton 9123, bred and owned by Barton Charolais Ranch of Manti, Utah, topped the 1979-1980 Central Bull Test sponsored by the Utah Beef Improvement Association.

Mr. Barton gained an average of 3.71 pounds per day for 140 days on a high roughage ration during a cold and wet winter This was the highest average daily gain of all 253 bulls representing nine breeds on test. Pen feed efficiency was measured at 7.32 pounds of feed per pound of gain

Mr Barton's 365 day adjusted yearling weight was 1302 pounds, the heaviest of all bulls on the test. The bull's weight per day of age was 3 60 pounds, also topped the test

BCR Mr Barton 9123 was sired by BCR Mr. Barton 441, also bred by Barton Charolais Ranch and owned jointly with Sonderup Charolais of Fullerton, Nebraska.

There were 37 bulls on test from eight cooperators. These bulls' average daily gain was 2 98 pounds with weight per day of age of 2.89 pounds.

Eliminate broken spreader chains

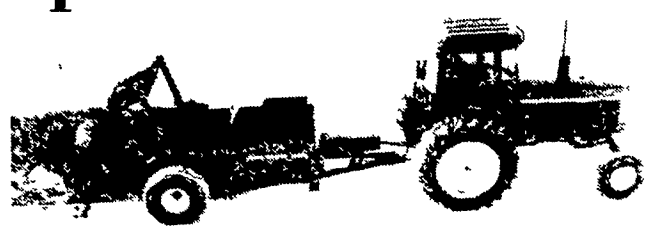
MOLINE, IL — No dairyman who has interrupted manure spreading in subzero weather, unloaded with a pitchfork, then repaired a broken conveyor chain, need ever repeat that chore. John Deere has eliminated the broken chain problem — by eliminating the chain conveyor.

The new 450 Hydra-Push Spreader utilizes the hydraulic pushoff principle, but with two significant improvements over earlier hydraulic spreaders: First, the pusher blade is driven by a two-stage hydraulic cylinder system which permits a shorter hitch for improved maneuverability

Second, the 450 uses a sliding "carrier floor" for more efficient movement of material toward the beaters and a more uniform spread pattern Unloading is substantially faster than for conventional spreaders comparable in size to the 225 bushel capacity of the new 450. And, as the blade is retracted after unloading, flexible lips on side and bottom edges self-clean the box interior.

Exclusive materials used on the surfaces of interior box walls, the floors, and the face of the pusher protect the spreader and enhance its performance.

A low-friction, rustproof, fiberglass material is bonded to the interior of the box Impervious to the corrosive effects of manure acids, it virtually eliminates chemical deterioration of the spreader's interior. Manure will not freeze to this material.



The new John Deere 450 Hydra-Push Spreader design eliminates conveyor chain and problems caused by chain freezedowns in the winter.

Nudrin-Guthion OK'd for apples

LANCASTER — The state of Pennsylvania has approved the combination use of Shell's Nudrin 90 and 1.8 with azinphos-methyl (Guthion) for apple trees.

The combination provides control of several pests including Codling Moth, Leafroller, Tufted Apple Budmoth, Lesser Appleworm, Tentiform Leafminer, Eye-Spotted Budmoth, Green Fruitworm, Leafhopper, Plum Curculio, Tarnished Plant Bug, Apple Aphid, and Rosy Apple Aphid.

Both Nudrin and Guthion should be applied at equal rates — one-quarter pound per 100 gallons of spray mixture.

The tank mix application should not be applied within eight days of harvest.

- Made from fiberglass, the lasting answer.
- Color molded permanently into fiberglass to remain attractive and new-looking.
- Fiberglass is practically dent-proof. Stands up to long periods of hard use.
- Contents stay fresh because fiberglass absorbs little or no heat.
- Because there is very little condensation on the inside, moisture cannot alter the contents of material being stored.
- Fiberglass is rust resistant Acids and salts can't hurt it.
- Steep-slope symmetry plus a large 26" diameter hopper keeps material pouring freely without bridging.

Frey bull is reserve Sr. champ

Competitive 1980 Angus Breeders' Futurity staged in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — A full-house crowd packed the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center to witness the debut of many of the Angus breed's leading contenders for the 1980-81 show season from July 28-29 at the 33rd American Angus Breeders' Futurity in Louisville, Kentucky.

Doug Parrett, University of Illinois, Champaign, selected the champions from a field of 137 entries in one of the most competitive Futurities ever.

Briarhill Jay, grand champion bull, captured the supreme championship for owners James J Hicks, M D , Union Springs, Alabama; Picket Fence & Lincolnland, Grayslake, Illinois; and L.B. Pierce & Sons, Inc., Creston, Illinois. The May 11, 1978, bull tipped the scales at 2,015 pounds on show day and measured 58.25 inches at the hip.

Creston Mr America stood as reserve grand champion bull The May 2, 1979, bull is owned by Weaver Angus Farm, Peoria, Illinois; and Mr and Mrs W B Henley, Paso Robles, California He weighed 1,445 pounds and stood 57 inches at the hip

R&J Duchess 1239 moved into the grand champion female spot The April 26, 1979, heifer was a joint entry of R&J Ranch, Briggs, Texas, Empire Angus, Pleasant Hill, Missouri, Gallagher's Farm, Inc., Ghent, New York; and Picket Fence Farm, Grayslake, Illinois. Her hip height was 53.75 inches.

Reserve grand champion heifer honors went to Archies Emma, a January 18, 1979, entry of Premier Beef Cattle, Fowlerville, Michigan; and Buck & Barbara Stevens, Point Reyes, California. The reserve champ measured 54 inches.

Most of the group awards went the R&J Ranch way. They topped the Best Six Head class and put together Premier Jackpot progeny to take first in the senior get-of-sire class.

R&J won the Produce of Dam award with offspring of Albern Duchess 5773. The offspring were grand champion female R&J Duchess 1239 and reserve intermediate champion bull R&J Ike, the same two animals that earned the McCorkle Challenge Trophy given to the best bull and best female shown together and owned or co-owned by one exhibitor R&J Ike is co-owned by R&J Ranch and Briarwood Farms, Curtis W. and Ann H. Long, Butler, Missouri.

Briarhill Angus Farms, Union Spring, Alabama, owned the top junior get, sired by Briarhill Bartman, and also won the Premier Exhibitor award.

Continental was the serve senior champion bull entered by Continental Associates, Phelps, New York; and Fred C. Frey & Sons, Quarryville, Pennsylvania.

Champion of the junior bull division was Summitcrest Puritan, jointly owned by Summitcrest Farms, Summitville, Ohio, and Briarwood Associates, West Bend, Wisconsin.

Skarship Farm, Hillsdale, New York, took bull calf champion honors with Skarship Primemover. Jane Dawes, Urbana, Indian, stood in reserve with DD Black Stud 929.

Leland J Boggs, Claverack, New York, led out the intermediate champion heifer, Sir Wms Patricia 982. Mr. and Mrs Sayre MacLeod, Phelps, New York, took reserve intermediate honors with Blackcap 434L of Sayre.

Heifer calf champ was Briarhill Joan, co-owned by James J. Hicks, M.D.; Briarwood Farm; Lovana Farms, Inc., Clarksville, Georgia; and Picket Fence Farm.

Bill Avery received the Robert L. Asher Memorial Trophy for being the outstanding herdsman at this year's show. He's herdsman for Premier Angus, Inc.,, Cloverdale, Indiana.

Bradford Holstein Club holds summer affair

BY JANE BRESEE
Staff Correspondent

ROME — The annual Bradford County Holstein Club picnic was held at the farm of Roe and Mary Russell of Rome, last Saturday with 90 present

The morning activity was a judging contest for the juniors, 15 years old and under, of two year old heifers Winners were Darleen Shedden, Kelly King, Wendy LaMont, Jay Braund, and Tim LaMont.

Winners of the senior division judging 4 year old cows were Charles Howard, Tim Neville, Calvin Bacon, and Regina Jackson

Official judge was John Howard, III, Director of Promotion of the State Holstein Association Jack is a native of Bradford County

A short business meeting was conducted by Richard Kingsley, president of the board He introduced Lu Ann Shedden, new Bradford County Dairy Princess, who spoke briefly about the promotion of milk

Jack Howard was asked to give the news from the state association. "Bob Morris, state staff member, will be leaving to work for the California Holstein Association", Howard remarked, "and Russell Jones, of Bradford County, will be the chairman for the state convention this fall."

He expressed hope that some Bradford Countians would show cows at the All-American Dairy Show in September.

Lynn Miller, state director from Bradford County, told the members that the state association is buying a subscription of the weekly Farmshine newspaper for all its members In return, the state association is going to use that newspaper as its weekly news magazine.

Miller mentioned that the national association will raise the transfer fee from $5 to $10, effective January 5.

Orville Yoder, Bradford County Extension agent, announced that the Junior Holstein Club will hold its annual blueberry festival at the Duane Wilcox Farm August 9.

The 4-H Dairy Roundup will be held August 18, the Northeast Championship Show, August 21; and the 4-H District Dairy Show on August 25. All will be held at the Troy Fair Grounds.

Kingsley introduced Roe Russell, Jr. owner of the host farm "Out of the 175 Holstein cows we own, only one is not registered with our farm prefix," Roe told the crowd "We haven't bought a cow in nine years."

"We milk 95 to 100 cows," Russell continued, "Thirty-five bred heifers and some calves are housed in the new heifer barn, and the rest of the heifers are out to pasture".

"There's not much pasture land in the 500 acres we own," Russell said. "We keep the cows in the barn days and let them out nights into a lot where they are fed hay."

In his closing remarks, Russell gave tribute to his two young hired men and to his family. His wife, Mary, manages the herd breeding program using mostly artificial insemination.

Officers of the Bradford County Holstein Club are Richard Kingsley, president; Robert Whipple, vice-president; Leigh Sturdevant, secretary, Ben Jackson, treasurer; and Bonnie Miller, news correspondent.

Hostetter's sweep Chester Black and White Show

Staff Correspondent

GOSHEN — Maplebound Farm Holsteins overwhelmingly commanded the Chester District Black and White Show spotlight last week at the Goshen Fairgrounds. The Donald Hostetter family, Parkesburg, led their animals into the ring in fourteen out of eighteen divisions They captured first place standings in a total of eleven classes. In addition they ranked second four times and third three times.

Sweeping all of the grouped divisions except Junior and Senior Get, which they did not enter, Maplebound animals were also named Reserve and Grand Champion recipients.

Grand Champion was a four year old, Maplebound Elevation Kristol, sired by Round Oak Rag Apple Elevation. Another herdmate, Maplebound Gentle Ben Sun, sired by Maplebound Gentle Ben, was named Reserve Grand Champion as a milking six year old

The Hostetter family which consists of parents Donald and Dorcas and their four daughters—Susan, Missy, Kim and Bev—were named premier exhibitors and breeders at the show which included slightly over one hundred individual animals, according to Stanley Guest, show chairman

Three age divisions for fitting and showmanship competition started the show Nine to eleven year old fitting and showmanship first places were awarded to Cindy Hohl with Joe McCahon, Jr., taking second in both categories and Jeff Darlington placing third. Fourth place in this age group went to Kathy Reiter in both fitting and showmanship.

Twelve to fourteen year olds placing in the fitting were: 1 Anthony Beiler, 2. Allen March, 3. Gerald Darlington, 4. Kristine Beiler, and 5. Gayle Reiter. Showmanship rankings were. 1. Allen March, 2. Anthony Beiler, 3. Kristine Beiler, 4. Gerald Darlington, and 5. Gayle Reiter.

Fifteen year olds and older competed with fitting first

Figuring Fleet Costs? Remember ....

Propane is better.

Maintenance? Clean-burning LP-gas eliminates carbon build-up and engine sludge that causes poor performance and result in costly downtime for repairs and overhauls

Cost per gallon? Figure it out in your own area Most often, LP-gas wins over gasoline hands down

Fuel availability? Many types of fleet vehicles qualify as priority users of LP-gas Check your situation with your local dealer

When a gasoline engine needs replacement an LP gas powered engine still has a long way to go nearly twice as long That s like getting two engines for the price of one

Crop service lists state livestock numbers

HARRISBURG — Pennsyvlania farmers had 1,920,000 cattle and calves on hand July 1, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. This is an increase of four percent from the July 1, 1979 level of 1,850,000 head.

The number of cows that have calved, at 900,000, was three percent more than a year ago. The Keystone State's calf crop for 1980 is estimated at 830,000, up nine percent from the 1979 crop.

Milk cow numbers at 707,000 were up two percent from July 1, 1979 Beef cows, at 193,000 head, were seven percent above a year earlier The 289,000 milk cow replacement heifers 500 pounds and over increased four percent.

Beef cow replacement heifers, at 42,000, were up two percent Other heifers 500 pounds and over at 44,000 were down 12 percent.

Steers and bulls in this same weight category were up eight and two percent respectively from last year All calves under 500 pounds numbered 423,000, six percent above July 1, 1979

Nationally, all cattle and calves on July 1 totaled 123 million head, four percent above July 1 a year ago and one percent above July 1, 1978 This shows a herd increase for July 1, after four consecutive years of reduction, and signals an upward trend in the cattle cycle

All cows and heifers that have calved, at 50 1 million head, are up five percent from a year ago and three percent above July 1, 1978 Beef cows at 39 3 million head are up six percent from last year and milk cows at 10 8 million head are up one percent from 1979

Other inventories on July 1 and their changes from last year are as follows all heifers 500 pounds and over, 17 9 million, up one percent, milk cow replacement heifers, 4 39 million, up seven percent, beef replacement heifers, 5 87 million, up two percent, other heifers, 7 63 million, down two percent, steers 500 pounds and over, 16 6 million, down one percent; bulls 500 pounds and over, 2 62 million, up seven percent; heifer, steer and bull calves under 500 pounds, 36 0 million, up six percent.

The 1980 calf crop is expected to be 45.5 million head, about six percent above the 42.8 million born in 1979. This would be the first increase in the calf crop after five consecutive years of decline.

Junior Cooking Edition

In this cake mix generation of cooks, it's surprising to see so many recipes from junior cooks for cakes baked from scratch. Cakes and cupcakes are perfect companions to summertime meals. Often meals are taken out of doors, and cakes are convenient to carry, and offer a satisfying sweet taste at the end of a light summer meal. Today's column is totally devoted to cake recipes from our junior readers, so why not get a piece of the action and try one of these recipes today?

REFRESHING GELATIN CAKE

2 cups plus 2 tablespoons flour
3½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup soft shortening
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon flavoring
4 egg whites, ½-⅔ cups unbeaten
1 3-ounce box lime gelatin

Mix flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, shortening and milk, then add egg whites and vanilla. Bake at 350° F. Put in a greased oblong pan. When cool, poke the cake with a big fork then mix a 3-ounce box of gelatin, any kind, but lime is refreshing. Pour the gelatin on top of the cake and frost with whipped topping or white icing. Keep refrigerated.

Co-op institute slated this week

UNIVERSITY PARK — Bill Turner, director of public relations, Land O'Lakes, Inc., Minneapolis, Minn., will be the keynote speaker as the American Institute of Cooperation kicks off the 52nd National Institute on Cooperative Education, August 11-14, at Penn State.

The American Institute of Cooperation, Washington, D.C., sponsor of the conference along with the Penn State College of Agriculture, expects over 2,000 people to attend this year's educational programs.

The theme for the Institute is "Cooperatives - Keystone of Agriculture." Over 60 speakers will approach this topic from various viewpoints during the course of the four-day conference

People from all over the United States and Canada will attend the Institute to discuss the numerous challenges and opportunities cooperatives will face as they serve tomorrow's agriculture, points out Hal F Doran, educational program director for farmer cooperatives at Penn State and general conference chairman.

In addition to the general program, there are five special programs at the Institute; the Youth Scholar Program for teenagers; Employee and Collegiate Seminar for new cooperative employees and college students; Young Farm Couples Program; the University Conference on Cooperatives; and Workshop on Cooperatives for Teachers and Agents.

Turner will keynote the NICE on August 12 by challenging participants to strengthen agriculture by increasing the strength of its supporting structure

University President John W. Oswald and Penrose Hallowell, Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture, will officially welcome the Institute participants to Pennsylvania and Penn State at this opening session

Sectional meetings that follow the general session will examine areas which cooperatives are developing

One sectional meeting will look at the cooperatives' role in meeting America's energy needs. M W Brier, vice president for public affairs, Energy Cooperative, Inc , Washington, D.C. will cover the development of an energy policy.

Ways of supplying agriculture's energy needs will be the subject of John B Davenport, director of governmental relations, National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, Washington, D.C. Alternative and supplemental sources of energy will be discussed by Susan Shepherd, deputy administrator, Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D C

The general session on the morning of August 14 will be devoted to ways of involving and utilizing the abilities of women in cooperatives. Estelle Ramey, professor, Department of Physiology and Biophysics at the Georgetown University Medical Center, and an activist in women's rights, will be the featured speaker.

WASHINGTON, D.C — Rotten weather and potential crop failures have helped at least one segment of agriculture.

The Carter Administration has announced it will make no request to Congress asking that USDA be allowed to forgo the semi-annual price adjustment due October 1.

At the same time the Administration indicated it would not press to have the dairy price support level lowered from 80 percent of parity to 75 percent One proposal under consideration would have required the drop if Commodity Credit Corporation stocks were to reach a certain level

Large purchases of surplus dairy goods, many of them by CCC, were cited as a major incentive for a potential change in the dairy support program

As the law stands now, dairymen will receive 80 percent of parity adjusted semi-annually to keep up with inflation.

With no change forthcoming in current regulations, dairymen can pencil in an upward adjustment in dairy support prices of between 75 cents and $1 per hundredweight, effective October 1, 1980.

Whether the oversupply in milk production will be augmented because of the support price hike remains to be seen.

But the near disaster in crop production in the midwest which was [illegible] into the government's thinking on the dairy support question, seems to have been the dominant factor in the final decision

Less grain production should mean higher feed prices for cows

USDA and other agricultural analysts said they figured dairymen would cut back on the amount of feed given cows, thus cutting production.

Consumer and farmer groups were asking whether it would be good policy for a government agency to encourage more dairy production in the face of a great oversupply

Of course, any major drop in milk output could chew away the surplus and confuse the milk marketing system

The thinking of farm leaders that the adjustment would be needed to meet higher costs of production, including a projected grain price boost, apparently carried the battle in Washington

Also entered on the economic graphs was the possibility that poultry and red meat prices could jump in the last quarter of this year or early the first quarter of 1981 An increase in those areas would make dairy products more attractive to the consumer

A number of arguments against a price increase fell by the wayside

The nation's dairy herd is well culled, so little decrease will come from animals leaving the milking string

Per cow milk production is expected to continue to increase due to the better genetic makeup of the cows now on farms

But as farmers well know, economic projection remains one of the most imprecise of sciences

While an increase in support prices now seems a certainty, the ultimate effect the increase will have on both farm and consumer prices remains to be seen.

At present it looks as though farmers will have something under a dollar per hundredweight more support under their milk checks, a figure which could cost the consumer between one and two cents per quart more for milk at the store —CH

SILAGE FORTIFIER

A revolutionary new concept in improving silages. University tested and proven MOPRO Liquid Silage Fortifier is formulated to balance the major mineral and protein deficiencies of silages. It also prevents loss from mold and rot after being removed from the silo or trench MOPRO is added at the time of ensiling and is applied by metering equipment with very little handling cost. MOPRO will not corrode mild steel tanks or brass fittings and has no free ammonia odor to irritate the eyes or skin. MOPRO is a homogeneous solution of ammonia salts, urea, cane molasses, and minerals (except salt and calcium) in an efficient liquid carrier. It provides nitrogen for improved fermentation in the rumen and contains a mineral balance of phosphorous, magnesium, and trace elements. MOPRO 100 will give a resulting silage of up to 14.3% protein.

Scotch Highlanders at home in Northumberland

BY SHEILA MILLER

SUNBURY — An ocean apart from the heathered hills of their native Scotland, nine Scotch Highlands graze contentedly on the clovered pasture hills of the Hugh Wilson family farm, R3 Sunbury.

These long-haired, shaggy cattle have called the 45-acre Northumberland County farm home for the past two years, moving here from Royalton, Vermont with the Wilson family in 1978.

According to Wilson, who has a dental practice in Hummels Worf, he started raising the Scottish breed in 1973 primarily because they require little maintenance.

"Scotch Highlanders could stand the winters in Vermont without losing any weight from cold stress," said Wilson. "The winters here are a piece of cake for them."

Wilson told how in Vermont, the Highlanders were able to take shelter inside a three-sided lean-to, but only did so during severe ice storms. The rest of the time, he said, they preferred to weather the snow storms to roam the pasture.

After one winter storm, Wilson recalled he couldn't find his cattle

"Everything was covered with a foot of new snow, and I couldn't see any of the cows. Then I notice some steam coming off mounds of snow. When I called the cows the mounds stood up and shook off. The cattle weren't even phased by the 12-inches they were wearing."

Wilson attributed the cattle's seemingly oblivious attitude to the elements to their "all-weather coats" He pointed out the fine, fluffy fur that underlines their shaggy, long hair coat. The color of the hair, ranging from white to black, seems to have no bearing on its effectiveness to cast off rain and snow.

The Wilsons' Highlanders are mostly light red in color However, one of the bulls is a brindle, with red and black hair. Said Wilson, the lighter cattle seem to keep cooler than the darker-colored cattle.

Wilson also boasts the Highlander's disposition He craftily slipped a halter around four-year-old Frosty's enormous horns and took son Sawn and neighbor Jeff Reitz for a ride.

For all their gentleness, Wilson said his cows are excellent mothers and they're "fertile as rabbits" Their horns that served them in the wilds of Scotland still aid them in warding off any unwelcome visitors And, the cows are back in heat within 45 days after calving, he added.

Naturally hardy animals, Wilson pointed out hoof rot is virtually unknown to the breed He explained the cattle came from an area in Scotland where 110 inches of rain falls every year

After getting over the original expense of purchasing the cattle (American-bred females start at $1000, bulls at $1500), they are relatively easy to keep.

Wilson said his cattle are on a low-grain diet, with cattle being fed a grass-legume hay from late in December until the pastures come back in Spring They are fed a grain ration six weeks before they calf. A free-choice mineral supplement is available for the cattle, and a grain creep gives the weaned calves that little extra they need to grow

"The Highlanders are good foragers," said Wilson "They finish easier with the fat distributed throughout the muscle rather than around the outside Their warm hair makes this outer layer of fat for insulation unnecessary."

Wilson stressed the fact that he feels Highlanders are a good source of crossbreeding bloodlines

Crossing the Scotch cattle with Angus, Herefords, Shorthorns or any other breed gives the cattle breeder a wealth of hybrid vigor, he said Proof to his claim is a tall, well-muscled heifer whose ancestory includes a Highland sire and a dam who is half Charolais

Wilson noted that in the Scotch Highland breed, the cattle are beginning to move away from the short-legged, boxy animals and through breeding are beginning to get the stretch and height more desirable in the modern beef animal

In his own small herd, Wilson too is working for the improvement of his favorite breed. "If the cows are not ideal mothers, they're not in my herd. I'm selecting for height, length, and mothering ability."

Wilson said, he'll be travelling to West Virginia to pick up a new addition to his herd next week — one that will add some more leg to his calves

In a recent study conducted in the United States and Canada, statistics back up Wilson's personal observations about the merits of the Scotch Highland breed

The study revealed that 94 5 percent of potential cow conceptions in the surveyed herds resulted in the birth of a calf. Of those calved, 97 37 percent were born alive and 94 37 percent were successfully weaned The survey also showed that only 1.29 percent of the cows required calving assistance.

Scotch Highland cattle are noted for their mothering ability. Wilson claims his cows have a calfing interval of 10½ months.

The long horns that adorn the Highlanders at one time served as weapons against predators in the wilds of Scotland.

With a recorded history that dates to the Twelfth Century, the Scotch Highland were first imported to America in the early 1900's They have found favor in both the East and the West, in both farm and ranch circumstances where winters are tough

Their resistance to weather extremes was demonstrated in Colorado, this past Winter, where what were termed "wild weather conditions" contributed to many entries in the Fed Beef Contest, at the 1980 National Western Stock Show in Denver, not attaining a necessary choice grade. The Overall Grand Champion Carcass winners, Highland-crosses exhibited by Don Stroh and Sons, Elizabeth, Colorado, never went off feed due to the cold and graded choice.

Highland-crosses have persistently figured in the winning columns in the national competition since 1969

Numbers of Scotch Highland cattle are not "generously abundant" in America The American Scotch Highland Breeders Association is helpful in assisting interested parties get in touch with prospective suppliers Inquiries should be directed to Executive Secretary Gloria Allen, Route 2, Box 403, Kalkaska, Michigan 49646

This crossbred heifer shows the benefits of hybrid vigor, said Wilson. She was sired by his Highland bull and is out of a half-Charolais dam.

Dairy insecticides recalled due to exploding cans

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Certain pyrethrin-containing insecticides, packaged in aerosol containers and marketed in at least 31 states for insect control in dairy barns, are the subject of an extensive recall program.

The recall was initiated by Speer Product Inc., a division of Shirlo, Inc, Memphis, Tenn., because of a potential container rupture problem.

The Dow Chemical Company, a supplier of one of the aerosol components, is conducting the recall program for Speer. Due to the wide distribution, Dow has assembled and will direct field teams to retrieve the aerosol cans, in accordance with the company's product stewardship commitment.

The insecticides, packaged in 2 25 pound (36 ounce) aerosol containers, are sold under the following labels—Aid Dairy Aerosol, Hubbard Dairy Aerosol, Coop Dairy Aerosol, Kent Dairy Aerosol, Pyrenone Dairy Aerosol, Golden Sun Aerosol, Fly Killer, Della-Mist Aerosol, Supersweet Dairy Aerosol and Bug-A-Boo Dairy Aerosol.

The products were formulated and packaged by Speer Products and were distributed by Aid Laboratories of Okeechobee, Fla, and by Hess and Clark of Ashland, Ohio.

Purchasers of the aerosol insecticide are being notified and instructed to isolate the products and avoid unnecessary movement or agitation of the cans The Environmental Protection Agency, state departments of agriculture, county extension agents and other associated interests have been alerted to the recall program

Dairy farmers and others possessing the products are urged to call by collect telephone 901/767-0056, in order for a retrieval team representative to pick up the product and reimburse the dairy farmer, retailer or distributor

Representatives of Speer are warning farmers not to destroy or attempt to use the aerosol insecticide cans, but rather to call the above telephone number at the recall center in Memphis

Speer officials indicate the insecticide container problem could be related to the current heat wave However, the cause of the problem is still under investigation

The potential for human injury and property damage from rupturing cans requires immediate recall even though the exact cause of the problem may not be determined for some time

Delaware names 10 for co-op institute

LAUREL, Del — Ten Delaware young people are attending the combined Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives and American Institute of Cooperatives Summer Institutes on the campus of Penn State University at University Park, Pa, August 9 to 15

The scholars were selected at the Delaware Youth Cooperative Training Session held in Dover in April

Sponsorship of the youth to the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives Summer Institute, usually held in July at Shippensburg State College, is made possible by scholarships donated by individual member organizations of the Delaware Council of Farmer Cooperatives

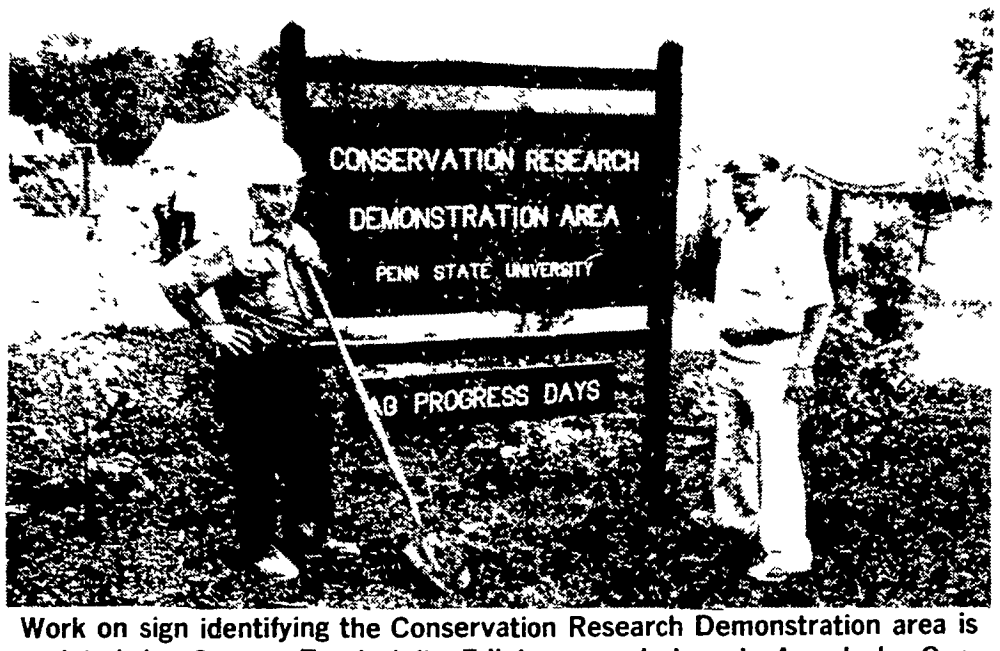
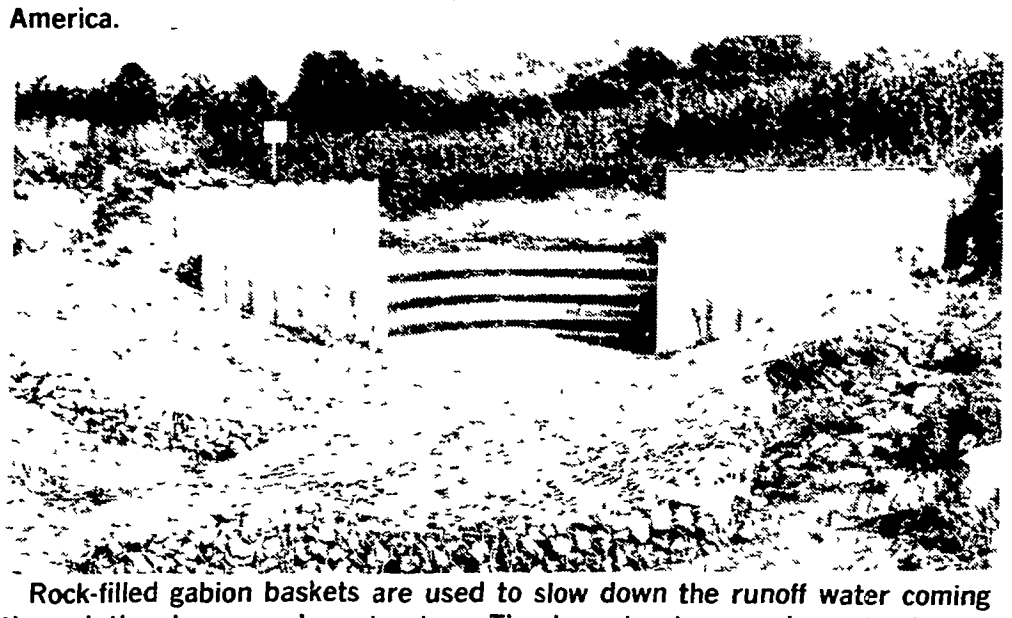
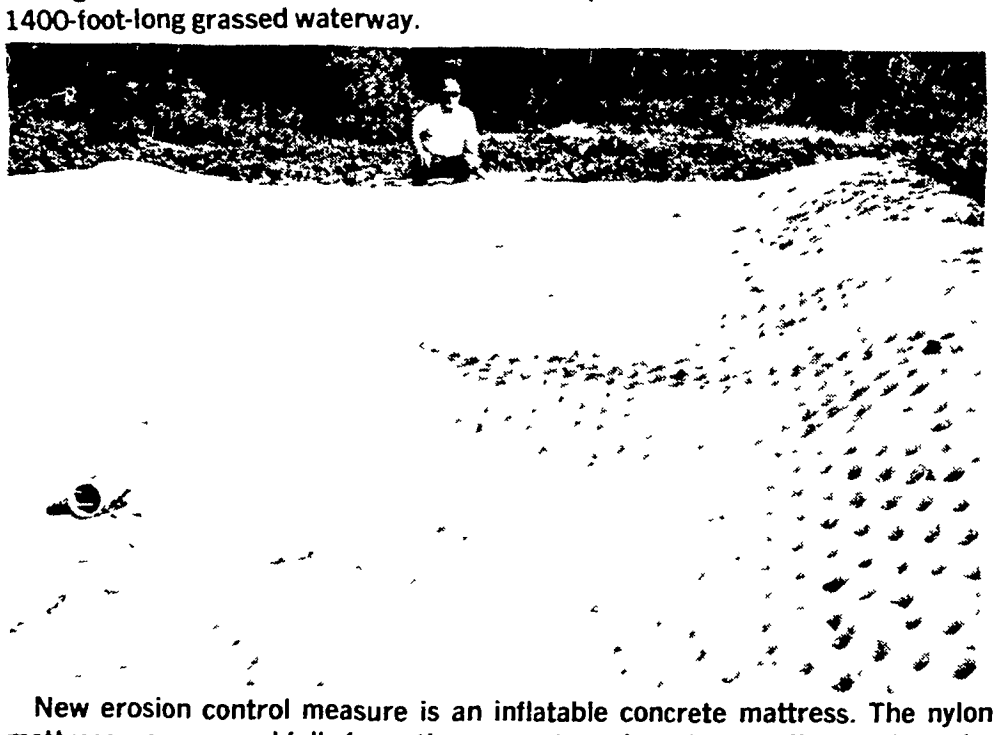
Conservation featured at Ag Progress Days



Work on sign identifying the Conservation Research Demonstration area is completed by Gasper Tucci, left, Edinboro, and Joseph Arendash, Conneautville, members of the Pennsylvania Land Improvement Contractors of America.



Rock-filled gabion baskets are used to slow down the runoff water coming through the aluminum drop structure. The drop structure carries water from a 1400-foot-long grassed waterway.



New erosion control measure is an inflatable concrete mattress. The nylon mattress was pumped full of grouting concrete and carries runoff water from the diversion terraces along base of the mountain.

ROCK SPRINGS — Construction of tile outlet terraces, farm woodlot management, and wildlife habitat development will be new activities in the conservation demonstration-research area at the 1980 Agricultural Progress Days.

The field days, one of the largest outdoor agricultural events held in the East, is scheduled for August 19-21 at Penn State's Rock Springs Agricultural Research Center, located nine miles west of State College on Route 45.

Other activities will include the construction of diversion terraces and underground drainage Several new mulching and erosion control products will be demonstrated, points out Frederick Bubb, of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, Harrisburg, chairman of the conservation demonstrations.

Maintenance problems and effectiveness of existing soil conservation practices will be explained by agency representatives.

"National equipment manufacturers and statewide distributors will be providing earthmoving and wood harvesting equipment. It will be operated by members of the Pennsylvania Land Improvement Contractors Association," Bubb notes.

Visitors to Ag Progress Days will be transported to the conservation area by bus. It will follow a circular route through the 80-acre site, stopping briefly at various features of interest People may get off or board the bus at any of these stops

Personnel of the University and various state and federal agencies will be available at each stop to discuss the conservation practices.

The Pennsylvania Bureau of Forestry and Penn State specialists will direct the woodland demonstrations. This will include a "how to" program on managing farm-size woodlots. It will include the best way to use a woodlot for various wood products, including firewood.

The Pennsylvania Game Commission and University specialists will show how a farmer can develop professional wildlife habitat through tree and shrub plantings and border cuttings. Wildlife specialists will point out that birds can be one of the cheapest and most effective natural insect control programs for the farmer, Bubb notes

The U.S. Soil Conservation Service will direct the installation of tile outlet terraces, diversion terraces, and underground drainage. The Soil Conservation Service and University personnel will discuss the success of previously completed pratices, such as drop structures, stone and grassed waterways, and mulching.

Special erosion control practices like the rock filled gabions (wire baskets) and the inflatable concrete mattress may be examined for effectiveness in controlling runoff and erosion. Representatives of commercial erosion control products will be available to discuss these practices.

Moisture meter testing program begins

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania Secretary of agriculture Penrose Hallowell Tuesday announed that the Bureau of Standard Weights and Measures has begun its annual inspection of grain moisture meters

Moisture meters are used by mills to test the amount of moisture contained in a farmer's load of grain Deductions are made in the farmer's payment in relation to the amount of moisture Grain dealers can incur added costs from a faulty meter if excessive moisture leads to high drying costs or spoilage

"The grain moisture meter inspection program can save farmers and millers literally thousands of dollars," Hallowell said

'An error of one percent moisture can result in a loss of from 30 to 60 cents per bushel Certification of these meters provides a valuable economic service to the grain industry

Hallowell said that bureau inspectors will concentrate their efforts on commercially operated devices, but added, "As a service to our grain farmers, we will also test non-commercial or on-farm meters on request He said that all 600 moisture meters in the commonwealth should be tested by September 1980

Farmers with non-commercial meters can have them tested by contacting the Bureau of Standard Weights and Measures at 717/787-9089, or at the seven regional offices of the Agriculture Department

Fourteen model so of moisture meters have been approved for commercial use by the Bureau The meters are verified with known samples of grains precisely examined for moisture with an over-drying method prescribed by the U S Department of Agriculture

The Bureau's inspectors will also test accuracy of thermometers, small capacity metric balances and standard weight per bushel scales The inspectors are supplied with up to date operating instructions and interpolation charts from the manufacturer, and can provide assistance to owners in methods and use of the meters

Jr. Shorthorn officers clean up championships

The crowd of several hundred persons watched intently as 20-year-old Alden, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Alden, took his class winner to Junior Champion female honors before receiving the traditional slap of champion from Joe Lewis of Alfalfa Lawn Farms, Larned, Ks.

Alden's entry, AF Shannon Margie 924 car, is a May, 1979 daughter of Duke of Swisher and out of an imported Irish dam, Shannon Margie. She weighed 1,055 pounds on show day and measures 52½ inches at the hip.

The Reserve Grand Champion banner went to the newly elected vice president of the American Junior Shorthorn Association, Joe Bales of Morristown, Tn.

Bales, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bales, exhibited Proffitt's Lady Manuela 105 x, a January, 1979 daughter of Clark x with Windholme Roan Dolly as the dam.

The heifer weighed 1,095 pounds and measured 53½ inches at the hip. She has had a successful show ring career, having recently been named the All-American junior heifer calf for honors received during the 1979 show season.

Exhibitors from 16 states attended the Kansas event, captioned "Decade of Direction" that also included workshops, a seminar program co-sponsored with Kansas State University and a barbecue and dance hosted by Norma and Gene Lindsey at their Little Ponderosa Ranch near the city.

The show was judged under a three man composite team system with Bob Douthit of Windholme Farm, Orange, Va., and Bill Jacobs from California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo, Ca., sharing the duties with Lewis.

Other champions included: Calf Champion - Jill Ehrnthaller, Toluca, Il., on Sandy Creek Judy; Reserve Calf Champion - Gip Gafford, Duncanville, Tx., on Snowball's Primrose; Summer Champion - Joseph Ehrnthaller, Toluca, Il., on J & J Royal Pet 925 x; Reserve Summer Champion - Cheryl Elmore, Mason City, Il., on Praire Sunshine 4th; Reserve Junior Champion - Darren Dohme, Broadlands, Il., on Mill Brook Violet Jane 79 x; Reserve Senior Champion - Jim Heckendorf, Castle Rock, Co., on Heckland Rosalie.

Joseph Ehrnthaller dominated the competition for the special awards. He won the Best Bred and Owned division; the Best Owned Pair; won the top showmanship award; and had two entires in the state group of four competition won by his state, Illinois.

Two livestock breeders offer Eastern prizes

TIMONIUM, Md. — Two livestock breeders have offered additional prizes - a purebred steer and $1000 more in premiums - to the already-announced awards for the 1980 4-H Club and FFA Carcass Steer Contest to be held here on September 27.

Lawrason Sayre, of Waffle Hill Farm, Churchville, Maryland, will present the purebred Angus feeder steer to the youthful exhibitor of the champion carcass steer in the contest. The event will be one of the highlights of the Eastern National Livestock Show at the State Fair Grounds September 26-October 1.

John Mrotek, of Runnymeade Farms, Brightwood, Virginia, will donate $1000 from the sale of a registered Angus heifer to the already-announced prize money of $1280.

Competition in the event is open to 4-H Club and FFA members exhibiting steers of any recognized beef breed sired by a registered bull. Steers wil be judged in one class for live evaluation and their carcasses will be later evaluated.

The champion and reserve champion awards will go to the highest and second highest indexing carcasses weighing 575 to 775 pounds and grading low choice or better. The exhibitor of the champion, in addition to the award from Mr. Sayre, will receive $500 and the exhibitor of the reserve champion will receive $250.

For more information on the contest, write to the Eastern National Livestock Show, Maryland State Fair Grounds, Timonium, MD 21093.

Davidsburg 4-H Club to meet Sunday

DOVER — The Davidsburg 4-H Club met recently at the 4-H Center. A mini-olympics was held in preparation for the annual 4-H Olympics. Members participated in events such as the auto relay, feedbag race, and egg toss.

The club voted to help with the Dover Recreational Area Park which is being constructed in front of the Dover Area Intermediate School. And a commiteee was formed to organize a club trip.

Next meeting will be held Sunday, August 10. The committee is Wayne Eyster and Carolyn Jacobs, co-chairmen, Robert Livingston, John Housner, Debra Jacobs, Todd Snelbaker, and Hugh Spahr. This meeting will include a project tour and family picnic.

SILAGE +LSA-100 BALANCED RATION

LSA-100 is a liquid silage additive designed to be added to corn silage at ensiling time to increase it's protein level, balance minerals and to improve the ensiling process. LSA-100 contains 100% protein equivalent and high levels of essential minerals. When applied as directed, LSA-100 will convert your corn silage to a balanced complete feed.

LSA-100 Advantages
- 100% protein equivalent
- Requires no specialized equipment.
- Creates no disagreeable odors to iritate your eyes or skin.
- Does not contain added salt or calcium.
- Will not corrode equipment.
- Needs no agitation at normal harvest weather conditions.

Bergland asks farmers to expand energy efforts

WASHINGTON, D.C. — retary of Agriculture Bob rgland today called on ricultural organizations to expand energy conservation programs to mers and other rural ericans.

Speaking at a White House ceremomy launchmg the second phase of the President's energy conservation outreach program, Bergland said, "Energy in fuel, fertilizer and ag chemicals is the largest single production cost facing farmers today. It is almost one-fifth of each farmer's expenses."

"This fact alone has encouraged farmers and other rural Americans to pioneer the development and adoption of energy conservation practices. We want to build on that excellent record of achievement in this effort initiated by President Carter," Bergland said.

Bergland outlined a program to ask farm and rural organizations to make a special effort to encourage farmers to adopt new energy saving ideas that will help reduce their individual energy consumption by five percent.

"While this reduction seems small, it is extremely important. It has the potential of reducing farmers' expenses by $425 million in a single year. Notwithstanding the drought, which is extremely serious, energy conservation must be a priority consideration in agriculture today," the secretary said.

Bergland told the agricultural leaders that many programs will be used to promote energy conservation and alternative energy sources for farmers. These include the $525 million in funds to the Department of Agriculture under the President's Energy Security Act to finance alternative energy development, the beginning of a new program to permit rural electric cooperatives to finance home, building, and business weatherization measures by their consumers, and the development of an agricultural energy information clearinghouse by the Department of Agriculture.

"If we take these steps and continue to work closely together, farmers and all other rural Americans will benefit, and we as a Nation will move much closer to becoming energy self sufficient," Bergland said.

Tested boar sale set for August 20

STATE COLLEGE — Pennsylvania's swine producers will have an opportunity to participate in Pennsylvania's Third Performance Tested Boar Sale, August 20.

Currently, Chester, Duroc, Hampshire, Landrace, Spotted and Yorkshire boars are on test at the Agriculture Department's Meat Animal Evaluation Center in State College. Approximately 75 percent of the top boars will be sold beginning at 6 p.m.

Each boar will be indexed at the end of the test, with the highest indexing boars sold first. Traits measured in the performance test include average daily gain, feed conversion, and fat thickness.

"Performance testing is the most important tool available to the swine industry to measure the genetic merit of potential breeding animals," Agriclture Secretary Penrose Hallowell said.

"Average daily gain, feed efficiency and fat thickness are performance traits that are important to buyers of breeding stock for two reasons. These are the major economic traits measured on pigs in most performance testing programs. And, these traits respond most rapidly to selection."

According to Hallowell, "The genetic flow of animals that have bred-in superiority for the economically important traits, starts with the seed stock producer. A few, influential breeders, by identifying the genetically superior animals, can have a large impact on the progress made in the swine industry.

"This is the type of information that will be available on boars being sold at pennsylvania's Third Performance tested Boar Sale."

This is an excellent opportunity for Pennsylvania swine producers to purchase boars that are genetically superior in the traits that are important to the industry.

The testing program is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture in cooperation with The Pennsylvania State University and the Pennsylvania Pork Producers Council.

Herr lambs to compete at Eastern States Expo

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — Barbara Herr, Nix Besser Farm, Narvon, has entered two market lambs in competition at the 1980 Eastern States Exposition Sheep Show scheduled at the Big E, West Springfield, Mass.

Herr's entires will compete with other market lambs on Wednesday, September 10 at 8 a.m. in Mallary Arena.

Other sheep entered in the show will be judged by breed according to the following schedule: Cheviot, Wednesday, September 10 at 4:30 p.m.; Dorset, Thursday, September 11 at 8:30 a.m.; Hampshire, Thursday, September 11 at 1 p.m.; Corriedale, Southdown and Suffolk, Friday, September 12 at 8 a.m.; and the Northeast Open Regional Shropshire Show, Sunday, September 14 at 2 p.m.

The Eastern States Exposition Sheep Show will also include shearing contests, fleece judging, a Shropshire decorator costume class, handmade wool articles judging, junior and senior lead line events and a sheep-to-shawl contest.

INTRODUCING

RUMA PASS

The complete dairy feed that cuts protein costs while maintaining your milk production.

If you think high milk production requires high protein, think again.

New Master Mix Ruma Pass for corn and sorghum silage feeding programs lets you feed less protein without a loss in milk production. So you save on protein while your cows continue producing at their present level.

Ruma Pass contains by-pass proteins which are not easily digested in the rumen, but are readily digested in the small intestine. The net result is more usable protein with less waste.

And you pocket the savings.

LANDISVILLE — Corn rootworm, Japanese beetle, bindweed, and clean sprayers were among the topics discussed by Ephrata Area Young Farmers on their tour of the Landisville Research Station Tuesday.

While the purpose of the trip was to obtain a pesticide certification update, the farmers learned about a number of health-saving and money-saving chemical use tips.

John Yocum, director of the Penn State Experiment farm conducted the tour.

A farmer who is willing to walk his corn fields, not just skirt them, can save a good bit of money on insecticides. Now is the time to check corn fields for northern corn rootworm.

If there are fewer than three beetles per plant this year there probably will be no need to spray for rootworm next season.

At the Research Station a five year study with Furadan has not shown any economic advantage to application of the material on conventional corn.

But, Yocum noted, he would not even think of planting no-till corn without an insecticide. And, he noted, the agronomists keep close tabs on the insect situation.

A tip on rootworm scouting this summer: don't mistake the goosenecking caused by wind damage for rootworm damage.

Japanese beetle is one insect pest that farmers can do nothing about.

To control the bug it would be necessary to spray every five to seven days for a month. The spray would probably have to be flown on. In short, it's not an economical practice.

Several good herbicide combinations are available for soybeans, Yocum said.

He told the Ephrata Young Farmers that Lorox-Lasso or Sencor-Dual were good materials. Prowl does a good job on grasses and some deep-seeded broadleaves, but will miss nutsedge and some ragweed.

Velvetleaf remains a problem, best handled in soybeans with a post-application of Basagran or Blazer; in corn, by going over the top with Banvel or 2,4-D.

A warning on the Banvel—don't apply the material when temperatures are over 85 degrees as damage may result. And next year, try to apply the material before the corn gets much over a foot high.

Milkweed in corn can be handled the same way as velvetleaf. But in soybeans the best solution is to rotate to corn and knock it back at that time.

Bindweed and burr cucumber are similar problems; both best handled with a high rate of about 2.5 pounds of triazine herbicide per acre.

Burr cucumber is a climbing vine plant identified by its resemblance to garden cucumbers.

Bindweed also is a vine problem. This weed often is confused with morningglory. Yocum said he never had seen morningglory in Lancaster County.

Bindweed is a creeping vine which grows up plants and poles. At this time of year it has a white flower. In general, farmers probably will recognize the weed as

Trickle irrigation to be seen at Ag Progress

ROCK SPRINGS — Trickle irrigation is the most economical way for farmers and gardeners to water berries, fruits, and some vegetables, in the opinion of William R. DeTar, agricultural engineer at Penn State.

DeTar and associates will demonstrate the benefits of trickle irrigation during Penn State's Ag Progress Days Tuesday to Thursday. If the summer weather continues dry, Ag Progress Days visitors will note full well the value of such irrigation, DeTar commented.

Headquarters for Ag Progress Days will be the Rock Springs-Agricultural Research Center of Penn State, 9 miles west of University Park on Rt. 45.

Results of trickle irrigation will be shown on apples, strawberries, raspberries, cantaloupes, potatoes, cabbage, and cauliflower.

Savings in water and labor are the primary advantages over sprinkler irrigation, DeTar said. Low energy costs and low power requirements are additional reasons why many fruit growers in Pennsylvania are switching to trickle irrigation, he added.

Tours of strawberry plots will show, among other things, how perforated plastic tubing irrigates only the root zone. Water is not wasted between the rows, and the weed problem is reduced, it was pointed out.

Harvesting operations are not interrupted by sprinkler operation and wet ground. Leaves and fruit are seldom wet, greatly reducing disease problems. There are no aluminum pipes to set up and above.

"The trickle irrigation system applies a little water daily, keeping soil moisture at a constant, favorable level," DeTar stated. "Most of the demonstration plots at Rock Springs have a tensiometer, an instrument to detect soil moisture. Whenever moisture is needed, the tensiometer sends a signal to open a small, battery-operated control valve."

When very dirty pond water is used, the water passes through a sand filter so the small openings in the tubing will not clog.

Visitors to Ag Progress Days will be able to examine a large variety of irrigation tubing, fittings, and controls on display in the field. Several types of perforated tubing are being tested for reuse.

DeTar and associates are studying the conditions under which it is economically feasible to irrigate horticultural crops. All plots are set up with un-irrigated as well as irrigated sections, to determine the effect of watering on plant growth, yield, and crop quality. Moisture budgets are maintained to predict the water use of a crop and the moisture level in the soil.

ELLIOTSBURG — A dozen members of Goats Galore 4-H Dairy Goat Club met on the lawn of their leader, Mrs. Janice Stydinger, Tuesday to get ready for the showmanship class at the annual goat roundup to be held on August 19 at the Perry County Fair in Newport

Roberta Molaro instructed the members. The clinic began with an Antomy Bee.

In the course of the evening Molaro had the 4-H'ers go through all the manuvers that they will be expected to repeat the day of the fair, and helped them learn how to better handle their animals to show them to their best advantage.

"morningglory," but, Yocum emphasized, that's not its name.

Alfalfa anthracnose is another problem for farmers not alerted to the problem before they choose a variety.

Best weapon against anthracnose is a resistant variety, of which there are several. Saranac-AR, Vanguard, Apollo, a number of Waterman-Loomis and Pioneer lines are among the good resistant alfalfas.

Farmers planning to follow corn with alfalfa would be well advised to apply lime to the corn field the year before they plan to switch to alfalfa. Several advantages will be gained.

First, the lime will have a full year to neutralize soil acid. Not only will the alfalfa seed have a better environment in which to grow but any alfalfa herbicide used will be more effective at the higher pH.

Also, the odds of residual triazine herbicide damage to the young alfalfa stand are reduced.

Going from a triazine to an alternative corn weed control before planting that last season's corn may mean spending a bit more on chemicals, but it will be much safer for the alfalfa planted the following season.

Corn can be a weed, too. One good way to rid soybeans or other low growing crops of volunteer corn or high growing weeds is with a rope-wick applicator. The rope is saturated with a concentrated solution of herbicide and dragged lightly over the weed plants.

Care must be taken not to touch the rope to the crop. Yocum said he prefers the system to a recirculating sprayer, both for cost and for its numerous possible uses.

After each use, Yocum recommended a complete cleaning of the sprayer as required by most chemical labels.

That means pulling the screens, especially if a wettable powder or an oil carrier had been used.

Activated charcoal will clean out a sprayer well if allowed to sit overnight working in a unit and its hoses.

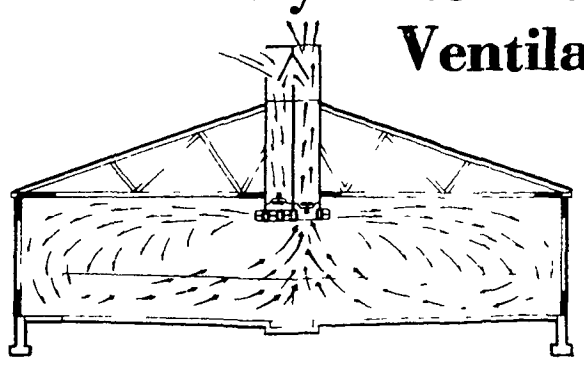
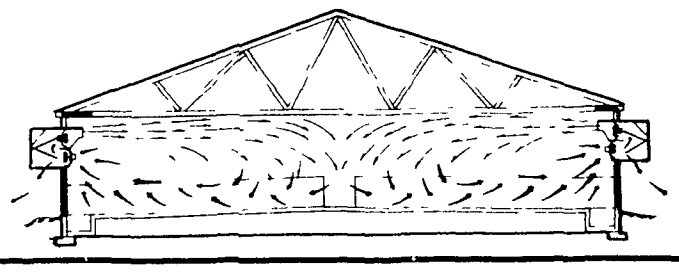
TRI-COUNTY SWINE SYSTEMS

'MARTIN-AIR' PATENT PENDING

Fully Automatic Total Confinement Ventilation Systems





A unique air blending process provides even temperatures and controlled, draft-free air flow

- Reduce animal stress
- End temperature fluctuations
- Reduce drug costs
- Reduce incidence of pneumonia and disease
- Reduce labor
- Lower condensation
- Confine manuring

Why The 'Martin-air' System is best for you

The success of Martin-air systems rests on a different concept than that used by most ventilation designs Others work by exhausting air completely then drawing cold air from outside—usually at the other end of the barn Martin-air units use an exclusive damper system which mixes fresh air and exhaust air so the output of the unit is never more than 4°F different from the room temperature And, at any given spot in a properly designed barn, the temperature should seldom vary more than 1°

The Martin-air principle is simple and effective Thermostats control fan speed and a dampered mixing chamber to blend fresh air with warm air Constant circulation throughout the building maintains uniform temperature, eliminates drafts and reduces condensation to provide a dry environment

Speaking of TB?

A reader writes:

Why doesn't anyone talk about the hidden problem of TB? It seems no one wants to talk about this problem except the meat inspectors.

I had gotten two reports back on some of our hogs showing TB and so had the sow herd tested. With the showing of a few reactors, the decision was to depopulate completely and hopefully get started again after cleaning up.

Now, I totally agree with the slap tattoo of market hogs, but why can the real culprits — the cull sows — get to market unidentified. Also, I find that brook stock can be moved Interstate without a TB test.

I foresee a problem when I ask a breeder to test a group of gilts for me before buying them.

It is apparent that TB has become a serious problem and after visiting with some USDA people, it seems the whole East Coast is in trouble.

I am trying to do my part in cleaning up and sure hope others do the same.

Robert M. McCarty
R4 Bloomsburg

Dr. Trayer comments:

The problem with tuberculosis in swine is that often the animals are asymptomatic carriers of TB.

There are two different subspecies of the mycobacteria TB that swine can be exposed to: bovine and avian with avian being the most common.

The history associated with the avian form of TB is that the swine have some exposure to a contaminated premise that at one time had birds on it. This can be years in the past but somehow the soil remains contaminated with the mycobacterium.

Most often the reason TB in swine is not detected before slaughter is that it is not symptomatic. There are rarely any clinical signs that can be pinpointed as TB.

You may hear chronic coughing or see some weight loss, or diarrhea, or elevated temperatures, or maybe even some arthritis or mastitis in an older sow. In boars, you may see enlargement of the testicles. These are all clinical signs of tuberculosis, however, they are non-specific.

The question comes up — "Can we test for TB in swine?" Yes, we can test.

Using an avian derived product, we test by injecting one-tenth of a milliliter behind the animal's ear and come back in three days to see if the area is swollen. The only problem with this test is that it is not as refined as the test used for detecting TB in cattle.

As a result, there are a lot of false negatives showing up. Swine that had no reaction to the test here found to have TB after they were slaughtered and examined. The USDA veterinarian inspecting these false negatives finds the lymphnodes have TB-like lesions. If these lesions occur in enough sites in the animal's body, the inspector will condemn the carcass resulting in a lower payment price to the producer.

For animals on slaughter as a result of TB, the USDA veterinarian can call for the meat to be cooked at 170 degrees Farenheit for 30 minutes. It can then be passed at the inspector's discretion.

Not only are there false negatives — there are also false positives. At times, the animal can be tested by the avian derived product, it can be injected, and there will be a positive reaction — a firm swelling that is indicative of TB. On sending this animal to market and slaughter, there are no lesions found.

So you can see that veterinarians do not have a reliable tool to identify carriers, previously exposed or presently exposed in acute phase.

I might point out that the testing product is supplied by the USDA's Animal Health Division, a proven product.

We basically recommend that producers do not raise swine on soil that has ever had poultry manure spread on it or any other exposure to domestic poultry. Poultry buildings are not recommended to be converted into swine barns at any time because the TB potential is always there.

Wild birds, which are generally not considered a problem in the spread of TB, have been found to carry the disease in certain instances. They can contaminate your buildings or soil through their droppings if there is a large enough population.

A disinfectant that is effective against TB is cresolic acid, and can be used when cleaning down a swine barn.

How can you inspire that breeding stock you purchase are clean? One method is the mycobacterium avian tuberculosis method. Whenever I use the test, I counsel the producers on how inaccurate the test is but it is the only one we have to use.

It also would be wise to buy from a producer who has taken the time and the interest to have a slaughter check done, and who has a history of swine herds that are free of TB.

It is still felt that about 90 percent of all TB is associated with the avian form. There are also mycobacteriums of soil origin and could be giving some cross-positive reactions with the avian test.

Another common area where TB turns up is in an operation where raw garbage is fed to swine. Any garbage that is to be fed should be cooked.

Any breeding stock going to the slaughter house must be identified with a market tag so it can be traced back to the farm of origin. This is a federal requirement for the purpose of identifying carriers and potential farm-of-origin disease processes.

Pa. youth named to National Jr. Angus board

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Dale Rains, Mercer, was recently selected to serve as a director on the board of the National Junior Angus Association.

One of 31 candidates, Rains was selected during the Junior's annual meeting held in Wichita, Kansas in mid-July. He will serve as coordinator of the rules committee.

John Kiesewetter of Farmington, Illinois, was elected chairman of the 12-member board. George McDonald, Riddleton, Tennessee, was chosen vice chairman and coordinator of the activities committee.

Other coordinators include: Mark Wyble, Opelousas, Louisiana, achievement committee; Brad Staley, Hampton, Iowa, finance committee; and Tracey Chapman, Manchester, Georgia, communications committee.

Other board members elected are: Bruce Kroeker, Hutchinson, Kansas; Jodie Wallace, Ripley, West Virginia; Sharon Diuble, Ann Arbor, Michigan; Julie McMahon, Ft. Smith, Arkansas; Angie Hunt, Milton, Indiana; and Tracy Crose, Napa, California.

The next meeting of the national junior board is set for November 16 in Louisville, Kentucky, in conjunction with the North American International.

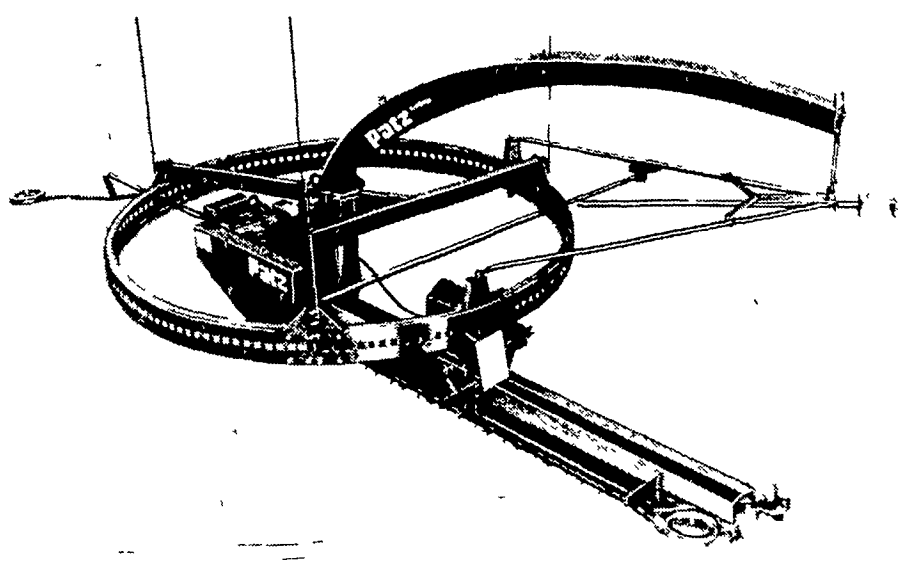
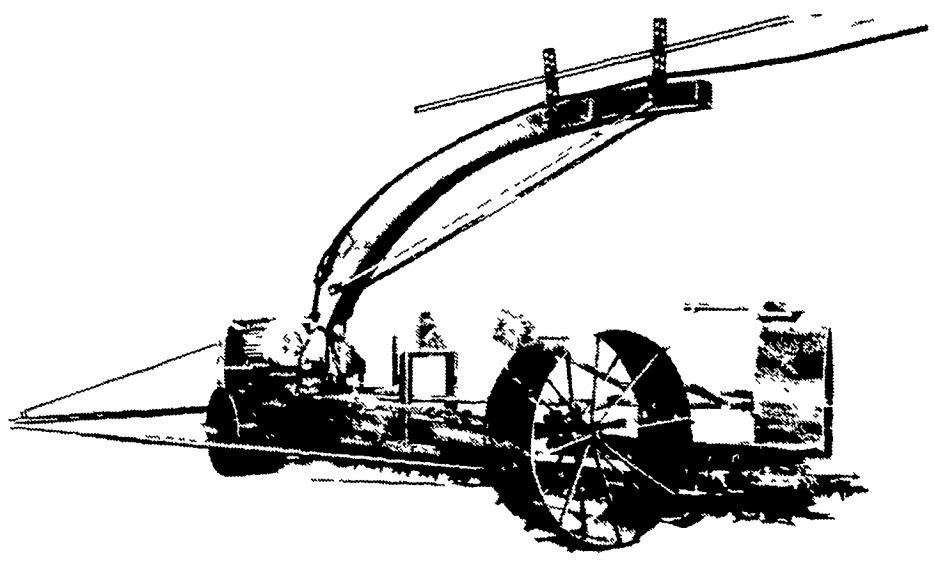
THE PATZ SOLUTION:
Reliable Year-Round Feeding





You know the problems caused by hard packed and frozen silage. Patz gives you two solutions to the problem — the Model RD-790 ring-drive silo unloader and the Model 98B surface-drive silo unloader.

Both unloaders feature a double-hook gathering chain with hardened steel cutters and claws that rip through frozen and packed silage. When you push the button, you know you can count on a smooth feeding operation.

Evaluate our powered silo wall cutters Spring tension holds 4 self-sharpening steel cutter blades in place to follow the curve of the silo wall. This keeps silage from building up along the walls, so you can be sure that you're getting all the feed where it belongs . . . in the feeder and not stuck to the walls.

The claws and cutters of the gathering chain deliver a steady flow of silage day after day.

Want to know more about the Patz system? See your Patz dealer He'll show you Patz quality and reliability two important words to a farmer like you.

Top Del. feeder pig sells for $1.45

Lin Martin of Milton poses with 215-pound crossbred hog that was named Grand Champion in this year's 4-H Feeder Pig Sale at the state fairgrounds in Harrington. Posing with Martin is Joe Valeri, buyer for Penn Packing Co of Philadelphia Animal was sold at auction for $1.45 a pound.

HARRINGTON, Del. — This year's Delaware 4-H Feeder Pig Sale was bigger and better than ever, with nearly 50 contestants and half again as many hogs competing. The event took place last Saturday, at the state fairgrounds in Harrington.

The 1980 champion feeder pig was raised by Lin Martin, 14, of Milton, who also produced last year's reserve champion. His 215-pound crossbred entry placed first in the middleweight class and was bought by Penn Packing Company of Philadelphia for $1.45 a pound.

This year's reserve champion, a 220-pound heavyweight hog, was raised by Sean Kelly, 10, of Wilmington. First place in showmanship was Chris Majchrzak, 14, of Seaford. Her 186-pound entry scored highest in the lightweight class.

Other winners in the annual competition were. Justin Reynolds, 16, of Smyrna (second place, lightweight class), Chris Majchrzak (second place, middleweight class—her second entry); and Scott Magargal, 17, of Landenberg, Pa. (second place, heavyweight class).

The feeder pig sale follows the Delaware State Fair each summer and marks the conclusion of a popular 4-H learning project which involves young people from clubs all over the state.

The event is sponsored jointly by 4-H and the Delaware Pork Producers Association, with generous support from fair officials.

Auctioneer for the even was Jester Carroll o Carroll's Sales Co., Felton.

Rain improves U.S. crop outlook

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Showers and cooler temperatures have eased crop moisture stress and the extreme heat over most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation during the past week, according to a report issued Tuesday by the joint Agricultural Weather Facility of the U.S. Departments of Commerce and Agriculture.

Unseasonable warmth and sunshine benefited crops in the Pacific Northwest.

Temperatures averaged two to five degrees below the seasonal normal over the northern Great Plains and Ohio River Valley last week while temperatures ranged from four to seven, and six to 10 degrees above normal over eastern New England and the Pacific coastal areas, respectively. Texas cooled slightly, but temperatures still were two to five degrees above seasonal averages.

Beneficial rains totaling two to four inches fell over the lower Mississippi Delta, the Ohio River Valley, most of the central and southeast coastal regions, and portions of the norther Great Plains. Crops in most areas east of the Great Plains were helped somewhat by rainfalls ranging up to 1.5 inches.

Except for showers over the mountains, the western United States remained dry and warm as last month's heat wave abated in the central United States and moved to the west coast where fair weather will accelerate crop development and the wheat harvest now beginning in the Pacific Northwest.

CANADA. Light rain over the grain belt continued crop improvement, especially in the later planted fields. Substantial yield reductions still are anticipated in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Normal yields or greater still are expected in Alberta.

MEXICO. Rains maintained adequate soil moisture for maize now flowering in southern crop areas to the west of Mexico City. Dryness still plagues crops in the northeast, despite some showers.

EUROPE. Two to three times the normal rainfall has kept conditions too wet for most crop development in a band extending from Belgium and Holland east to the Soviet Union. Reports of crop conditions in Western Europe remained cautiously optimistic as weather cleared during last week. Weather in central and southern France was favorable for the beginning winter grain harvest.

USSR. Heavy rains, totaling 4 to 5 times the normal seasonal amount, created very unfavorable conditions for coarse grains in western Belorussia, the western Ukraine and northern Moldavia. Ripening winter grains in the southern areas were especially hurt by the wet weather. Eastern winter grain areas enjoyed good harvest weather, but the hot and dry conditions were poor for spring planted row crops in these areas.

SOUTHEAST ASIA. Rainfall increased over Thailand, with most areas benefiting from above-normal amounts. The dry season rice crop in the Central Plain north of Bangkok should be nearly mature at this time.

LITITZ — The star of Broadway's current biggest hit was insured recently by the play's producers for $2 million.

The owners of a major league baseball club hold a $3.5 policy on their prize athlete.

But these figures appear paltry when compared to the price tag on a 2600 pound Simmental bull, which is valued by livestock authorities at $10 million.

"He is worth that much because he does what he is supposed to so well," says Roger Caras. Of royal ancestry, the bull works about three minutes a week.

"And what he does," Caras says, "is produce sperm. Each time this superbull ejaculates, he produces enough sperm to impregante — at least in theory — some 300 cows. He has been on the job for 10 years, and nothing else will be asked of him.

"He is so good at his work that he will probably be spared the indignity of the abbatoir. Bulls like him are allowed a quiet death, often a grave and occasionally, a headstone."

There are 29 bull farms in the United States, a number of which possess bulls worth $5 million or more. Semen from prize bulls, used in artificial insemination, is pure gold. 60 percent of the 11 million working dairy cows in the U.S. today (plus their 10 million calves and attending bulls), have been bred by artificial insemination.

By contrast, only five percent of the 80 million beef cattle in the country are bred by artificial insemination. Caras, who broadcasts on ABC-TV and CBS-Radio and has written 44 books on all facets of animal life, describes the new efforts underway to upgrade the genetic quality of beef cattle in order to meet the worldwide demand for protein.

"Crucial as it is, artificial insemination is only the first step," he explains

"The other frontier being traversed is something called embryo transfer, or ET. The great advantage of ET is that it permits a single cow to have not just one calf or even the odd set of twins but to have a litter or 10 or more calves at a time. This year more than 20,000 calf embryo transfers will be made."

More miraculous events are on the way.

"The next step is the use of frozen embryos and eventually the establishment of frozen embryo banks around the country," Caras says in the August issue of GEO Magazine. "Scientists are creating a brave new bovine world."

See the good old days again

ROCK SPRINGS — Having trouble making ends meet? Remembering the "good old days" when inflation didn't take such a huge bite out of your budget? Stop by the Ag Progress Days Family Living Tent, Tuesday through Thursday, and pick up a few tips on maximizing your family resources.

The theme of this year's family living activities is "Families Managing in the 80's," and family concerns such as health and nutrition, clothing, housing, and energy conservation ideas will be featured in exhibit and demonstrations throughout each day.

Ag Progress Days visitors can browse through the tent, finding out about everything from affordable 1980's housing to delicious and nutritious low cost protein.

Experts on food preservation techniques such as home canning and herb drying will be available to provide suggestions and answer questions. Convection ovens, an innovation in countertop ovens, will be demonstrated and discussed. New types of window shades, designed to keep out summer sun and winter wind, will be among the exhibits emphasizing conservation of energy and money.

Even the children will enjoy the fun and learning by joining Extension nutrition aides leading games inside the tent.

The Family Living Tent activities are only one part of the 1980 Ag Progress Days. Billed as one of the largest outdoor agricultural events in the East, it has a variety of activities, planned for maximum appeal for everyone, taking place throughout the three days. The event, sponsored by the Pennsylvania State University's College of Agriculture, is held annually at the Rock Springs Agricultural Research Center nine miles west of State College. Admission is free to everyone.

Some more on the silos of Lancaster County

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

LANCASTER COUNTY — Wandering the back roads and byways of Lancaster County, I participated again in a photographic pastime of silo seeking and spotting.

It helps to while away the hours of traveling from farm to farm.

If you look closely in the center of the top left photo, you can spot the shiny top of a silo that almost seems to be floating among the trees. In fact, it might be a farming flying saucer that's coming in for a landing on the road located in the southern section of the county.

As you drive down the road and the silo cap suddenly looms up in front, you almost get the impression that you're going to drive right into it. That might make a unique tourist attraction. Cut a roadway right through the silo and have the Lancaster County version of a California Sequoia road.

In the upper right photo, some contented pintos are lazing away a warm July afternoon on pasture; while their metallic counterpart (look closely) indicates not a stirring of a breeze on the top of the silo hidden behind the barn.

At lower left, a silo just outside Reinholds – no long used for storage – has become an oblong billboard. This might not be a bad idea for the dairy industry. What better vantage point for advertising wholesome values of drinking more milk than the many silos dotted across the countryside.

Paul M. Martin, of Indiantown Road, has a minature version of those big blue tubes that supports his mailbox. It's complete with tiny ladder and all.

Shattercane control field day scheduled

EAST EARL — The Adult Farmer Program of the Eastern Lancaster County School District will conduct a tour of their Shattercane Weed Control Plots on Friday, August 15, at 10 a.m.

The program will start at the Union Grove School where a bus will be provided to tour the plots. Slides and a description of the experimental plots will be briefly shown as will a demonstration of setting up sprayer equipment for the pre-plant incorporation of pesticides.

Shattercane has been an increasingly tough weed to control in corn and soybeans and the control can be dependent upon many management factors. The test plots include six different herbicide combinations as well as various incorporation practices.

Donald Robinson and Robert Anderson, Adult Farmer Instructors will conduct the tour with the assistance of Wayne Martz, Stauffer Chemical Co. The herbicides for the plots were provided by Stauffer Chemical, Geigy Chemical, and American Cyanamid Chemical Companies.

Those farmers who still need to be Re-Certified for their Private Applicator License can use this meeting to satisfy that requirement.

Dave Thompson of the Pennsyvlania Department of Agriculture will be with us to do the re-certifying.

The Union Grove School is located near Terre Hill on Route 625, two miles north of Route 23. All interested farmers and agribusinessmen are invited. For additional information, call 215/445-5041.

Berks 4-H Environmental Club open

LEESPORT — The Berks County 4-H Environmental Club is open to anyone from the ages of 8 to 19 with a sincere appreciation for the outdoors, whether it be hunting, fishing, conservation, bird watching, or hiking.

It is designed to give participants "hands-on" experience in developing the area surrounding the 4-H Center into an environmental learning area. Club members are involved in the planning, design, and development of this area. Professionals from the Game Commission, Park System, Soil Conservation Service, Fish Commission, and other agencies assist in helping the 4-H members.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Environmental Club is urged to contact Rick Kauffman, Berks County Extension Service at 215/378-1327.

Ag alums to meet at Ag Progress Days

STATE COLLEGE — For the first time the Penn State College of Agriculture Alumni Society is planning to get together at Ag Progress Days.

The event is set for the first day of the Ag Progress Days exposition.

All members of Penn State's College of Agriculture are encouraged to gather at a 12 noon luncheon on Tuesday, August 19.

Alumni will meet in the big red barn at the Rock Springs site of the show near Ag Progress Days Headquarters.

According to Henry Nixon, president of the College of Agriculture Alumni Society, the program will include a brief meeting of the Society and remarks by Ag College Dean James Beattie.

Interested alumni should send their checks for $3 for the box lunch to Milk Lynch, 318 Agriculture Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802 by August 11 for reservations.

Or, call Lynch at 814/863-0331.

Nixon reminds alumni this is their chance to meet and visit with other ag alumni, and encourages all to attend.
